

U. S. ACCEPTS BRITISH BID TO PARLEY

BIG HURDLES STILL BLOCK DISARM ROAD

Submarine Craft Issue Provides Chief Obstacle to Agreement

SEE MUCH OPPOSITION

But America and Britain Hope Other Nations Will Catch Peace Spirit

Copyright 1929 By Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Publication of the main points in the official invitations to a naval conference sponsored by Great Britain and addressed to France, Italy and Japan as well as the United States has been timed to coincide with Prime Minister MacDonald's visit to President Hoover, in the hope that the other nations of the world will catch the spirit of give and take which has been symbolized here in the last few days.

But the invitations disclose, none the less, the great obstacles and hurdles which have to be overcome and the dispatches from abroad tell something of the breakers that lie ahead.

First, it was natural that the Italian press should look askance at "Anglo-Saxon hegemony" and that the cry in Rome should be for more submarines instead of fewer. The French viewpoint is, of course, one of reserve, because France wishes concessions with respect to the reduction of land armament.

In a sense the invitation reveals not much more than was apparent in 1922 when the Washington conference concluded its labors. Again the United States and Great Britain have announced to the world their willingness to abolish submarines and agree it is dependent upon the acquiescence of the powers. It is hardly to be expected that an agreement to abandon the submarine as a weapon of warfare will be reached because its terrific possibilities were recognized in the last war. Already the Italians have indicated that they feel the submarine is particularly available to a small nation which cannot afford a large navy but has a long coast line to defend. The French feel very much the same way.

DELICATE QUESTION

Back in the minds of American and British statesmen is the knowledge that perhaps it is too soon to expect universal agreement on the abolition of submarines, but both Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald

BIG BOOZE PLANT FOUND AT MISHICOT

Federal Agents Destroy Apparatus but Fail to Find Operators

Two Rivers—(P)—A huge alcohol still, in full operation, located in an abandoned brewery in the heart of Mishicot, seven miles north of here, was raided by four federal prohibition agents from Milwaukee yesterday.

Lane Moloney, one of the agents, found the plant the most modern equipped plant he had ever seen. The still had a capacity of from 20,000 to 25,000 gallons. Although the still was in operation, there was no one near when the agents arrived and it is believed the operators had been tipped off.

In an adjoining room the agents found 250 gallon cans of alcohol ready for shipment in addition to 1,000 gallons recently prepared. These were destroyed as was the still and all other liquor making apparatus.

The plant had 15 vats for mash, each measuring 17 feet in diameter and 15 feet high. There were 3,000 gallons of mash in each vat, making a total of 45,000 gallons in the brewery. When the agents emptied the vats on the floor of the brewery the mash covered the floor to a depth of three and a half feet.

The raid was made upon the orders of W. Frank Cunningham, prohibition administrator for the district.

U. W. REGENT HANGS SELF AT MADISON

M. B. Olbrich, Who Nominated La Follette for President, Is Suicide

Madison—(P)—M. B. Olbrich, 48, University regent and prominent Madison attorney committed suicide by hanging in the basement of his home here today.

Mr. Olbrich, who had suffered a nervous breakdown after a severe attack of influenza, had submitted to treatment at a local hospital. Yesterday he attended a meeting of the board of regents in the office of President Glenn Frank and appeared in good spirits.

He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with the degree of bachelor of laws in 1902. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity.

Mr. Olbrich practiced law in Madison since 1905 and was a member of the law firm of Olbrich and Siebeck.

WAS POLITICAL FIGURE

He was treasurer of the Republican State Central committee of Wisconsin in 1912; commissioner on uniform laws; chairman of the non-partisan Progressive campaign for Wisconsin in 1914; deputy attorney general of Wisconsin from January 1919 to January, 1921; special counsel for the state of Wisconsin in litigation before the U. S. supreme court in the case of the Burlington railroad to test the power of the Interstate Commerce commission to fix intra-state passenger rates.

Politically, Mr. Olbrich had been active for many years, being a Progressive and having been an ardent follower of the late Sen. Robert M. La Follette.

He was a delegate to the National Republican convention in 1912 and 1916 and made the speeches nominating the late Sen. La Follette for president of the United States in those conventions.

WORRIED OVER SUIT

Mr. Olbrich for the past few weeks had been working in the capitol on a suit involving considerable of his own money and money of other Madisonians tied up in a Montana sheep ranch. Fighting his own case, he had won in the lower courts but the decision was appealed and Mr. Olbrich was worried as he prepared his argument before the higher tribunal.

As a regent of the university, he was the prime mover in an attempt to have that institution and the city of Madison join for the establishment of an arboretum on the shores of Lake Wingra, a project which is still pending.

Mr. Olbrich, who was well known for his ability as a public speaker and debater, was born Sept. 29, 1881, in McHenry-co., Ill.

Lobby Probe Will Start On Tuesday

Washington—(P)—The senate lobby investigation committee decided today to begin its public hearings Tuesday.

Chairman Caraway of the committee, was authorized to issue subpoenas for witnesses but no decision was reached as to the first persons to be called.

Caraway has said he desired Joseph R. Grundy, Washington representative of American Tariff league, as the first witness.

"We are going first into the lobby on the tariff bill," Caraway said. "We are going to get a list of those gentlemen who sat around so close that one could get his breath while the tariff measure was being framed."

Caraway added that Charles L. Eyanston, a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, who was employed by Senator Bingham of Connecticut, a Republican member of the finance committee, to assist him on tariff matters, would be given "full opportunity to explain his double salary."

Asked if Eyanston could be prosecuted for drawing a private salary while on the government payroll, Senator Caraway said there was a law providing for a fine and imprisonment for any government employee accepting private pay "but I am not passing judgment on this case."

MITCHELL ACTS TO RELIEVE COURTS

Attorney General Asks Larger Fund to Ease Growing Congestion

Washington—(P)—Increased appropriations of several hundred thousand dollars have been recommended to the budget bureau by the attorney general's office to relieve congestion in the federal courts.

Attorney General Mitchell announced today he had requested appropriations to provide 30 assistant district attorneys and also additional clerks and marshals. The entire would be less than one million dollars. Mitchell said approximately 29 per cent of the cases in federal courts had not been touched in recent years and that additional help was necessary.

He did not make public the districts for which aid was requested, saying that it would be determined whether the appropriation could be obtained.

Recommendation also was made for increased pay of the assistant district attorneys. The attorney general said the present salary averaged about $3,100 and that he hoped to raise the salaries to $3,300 or $3,400.

He said there was no use hunting for criminals if the federal courts were not able to handle the cases, adding that when the cases were extended over long periods the witnesses often disappeared.

Prohibition, the attorney general said, has had a good deal to do with the congestion of the dockets.

5 WOMEN, MAN GUILTY OF COMMUNISTIC PLOT

San Bernardino, Calif.—(P)—Unable to furnish bail ranging from $4,000 to $7,500, five women and one man, convicted by a superior court jury of conspiracy in connection with alleged communistic activities, were in jail today pending imposition of sentence and action on a motion for a new trial, both of which are set for Saturday.

The six were arrested last August in a raid on an alleged communist camp in Yucaipa valley.

Miss Yetta Stromberg, a college student and admitted leader of the camp, was found guilty on counts of flying the red flag and on conspiracy, and was held under $7,500 bail.

Isidor Berkowitz, Jennie Wolfson, Esther Karpeloff, Emma Schneiderman and Bella Mintz, convicted of conspiracy alone, were held on bail increased from $1,000 to $4,000. Sarah Cutler, a seventh defendant, was acquitted. The verdict was returned yesterday.

Defense Counsel John Beardsley of Los Angeles, announced he would appeal to the supreme court if his motion for a new trial failed.

BOMB WRECKS PLANE IN STUNT FLIGHT; 1 DEAD

Guyton, Okla.—(P)—Shattered by a premature explosion of a bomb during a stunt flight at the county fair here, an airplane crashed to the ground from an altitude of 500 feet, killing J. Jimmy (Mills) High, 30, of St. Joseph, Mo., and dangerously injuring John Noonan, Guyton, the pilot.

Bethel, an aerial stunt performer, released a 5-second bomb from the front cockpit which failed to clear the plane before it exploded. One wing was blown off as the plane dove to earth.

AUTOGYRO IS DAMAGED DURING TEST FLIGHT

Philadelphia, Pa.—(P)—The American-built Spanish autogyro undergoing tests at the Pitsfield field at Hallowell, 13 miles north of this city, was damaged during a trial today. A report that the inventor of the machine, Juan de la Cierwa was injured was denied by G. S. Childs, executive vice president of the Pitsfield Cierwa Autogyro company.

11 SLUGGED, 1 STABBED IN UNION GROUPS CLASH

Chicago—(P)—Eleven men were slugged and another stabbed in a clash on the west edge of the Loop last night between union workers and a group which the unionists regarded as Communistic.

There was fighting in the streets, and hundreds of men and women refused to leave factories in which they are employed until police had dispersed the rioters.

The trouble started from handbills signed by the Needle Trades Workers Industrial union, assailing the International Ladies' Garment Workers union as a "sellout and scab agency." Four men, all members of the first group, were arrested on charges growing out of the sluggings and stabbing.

ISLAND ISSUE IN TARIFF IS VOTED DOWN

Senate Rejects Broussard Amendment of Philippine Independence

Washington—(P)—The senate today rejected the Broussard amendment to the tariff bill which would have declared this country's intention to grant independence to the Philippines soon and called an international conference to agree to respect that independence.

The amendment would have requested the president to invite other governments to send representatives to a conference to consider an agreement to "respect the independence and territorial integrity of the Philippines."

Opening the opposition, Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, said the proposal on its face was "ridiculous." He would not vote for it, he said, because in the first place it had "no business" in the tariff bill.

Barkley said he had voted yesterday for the rejected amendment of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, which would have granted independence once after a constitutional convention had set up a form of government in the islands, adding he favored independence but doubted the propriety of such a question being injected into the tariff debate.

"It seems to be a rather queer performance," he said, "when we are considering a tariff bill to have the Philippine independence matter suddenly become a paramount question and we are asked to act on a resolution calling for a conference to consider an agreement to respect an independence which we have not yet granted."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, also opposed the amendment, saying it was entirely unnecessary. The same end could be accomplished, he argued, without any agreement on that proposed.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION

During the debate Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, offered a resolution to investigate the advisability of applying American customs shipping laws to the Philippines. The resolution was referred to the commerce committee.

The Broussard amendment calling for the conference had little support during the morning debate. In addition to Walsh and Barkley it was opposed by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, who asserted the United States was big enough to decide the independence question for itself. He added, however, that the question would be an outstanding issue in the next presidential campaign, adding the American farmers were demanding "the dumping from the Philippines of cheap inferior goods be stopped."

Senator Broussard argued adoption of his proposal would be evidence that the United States was ready to carry out its independence pledge and if voted down he would be comforted by the fact that the question of "unfair competition" resulting from free entry of island products into this country had at least been considered.

After voting on this amendment Broussard said he would ask a decision on his proposal to levy tariffs on island products.

CLAIMS STRIKERS FIRED FIRST IN MARION RIOT

Marion, N. C.—(P)—Further testimony that first shots in the riot at the Marion Manufacturing company's plant on Oct. 2, in which five men lost their lives, had come from striking workmen, was given today before Judge W. F. Harding, who is conducting an inquiry.

Allo Stepp, a deputy sheriff and one of the officers charged with murder in warrants sworn out by striking men, said he had not fired a shot during the fight, having been called to the assistance of Sheriff J. P. Adams, who was struggling with John Jonas, a striker. Jonas later lost his life in the fight.

Land Sinks In Texas Oil Field--Big Lake Formed

Geologists Study Phenomenon--Thirteen Wells Are Shut Down

Beaumont, Texas—(P)—Loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in oil land was threatened today through the unexplained sinking of seven acres of land in the Sour Lake oil field, 25 miles west of here, which has created a deep lake where only yesterday stretched an expanse of waving marsh grass and small trees. Sides of the pit still were crumbling today as the fall of earth continued.

Derrick and storage tanks were being removed from the edge of the great hole, estimated at from 50 to 150 feet deep, which filled with water.

Geologists of all the larger oil companies operating in this section were here today to study the muddy lake, which lapped the very border of the producing field. Theories as to the cause of the phenomenon were as different as they were numerous but the consensus is that drainage of the immense pool of oil beneath the surface left a cavity which the sinking crust is filling.

Fear that further drainage of the pool would cause further extension of the depression, endangering scores of valuable wells was expressed widely.

Effect on adjacent oil wells was almost immediate. One well making 10 barrels daily before the new lake was formed now is making 250 barrels. On the other side of the great depression a well making 150 barrels a day Tuesday is spouting salt water today. This well was brought in Saturday with an initial flow of 250 barrels a day.

In comparing notes on the phenomenon geologists recalled that there have been a score or more of similar occurrences in the Gulf area within the last 25 years. In all other cases, however, the depression has been but a few feet deep.

3 TRAINMEN KILLED IN EASTERN CRASH

Travelers Unhurt in Headon Collision of Passenger and Freight

Portage, Pa.—(P)—An eastbound passenger train and a westbound freight train crashed headon, west of the Pennsylvania passenger station here last night, killing three trainmen.

The dead are W. T. Johnson, Youngwood, Pa., engineman of the passenger train; W. C. Read, Altoona, engineman of the freight train, and G. L. Burkholder, Jeannette, Pa., fireman on the passenger train. J. C. Fleener, fireman of the freight train, leaped to safety.

The wreck occurred, railroad officials here said, when the trains met as the freight train, pulling out of a mine siding switched from an eastbound track to a westbound track. The cause and responsibility for the crash was undetermined by railroad officials early today.

The locomotives telescoped and two express cars left the rails with the engines and eight or ten freight cars, tying up the main line for several hours. None of the passenger coaches left the rails and none of the passengers were hurt.

Chicago—(P)—Police have arrested Claude Maddox after hunting him nearly eight months in connection with the Valentine's day gang massacre. Maddox is the man who owned the Circus café, headquarters of the men who are held responsible for the septuple slaying.

Oak Park police who made the arrest last night said Maddox denied his identity for several hours but finally admitted he was the man sought. One report said he was taken to the police station where he was held in the garage in which the death car used in the slaying was hidden.

RUSS UNIVERSITIES TO WAGE WAR ON RELIGION

Leninград, Russia—(P)—The first anti-religious university in the world was opened here today with elaborate ceremonies in the huge building of the house of culture.

Named after Stepanoff Skvortsov, a pioneer atheist in Russia, the anniversary of whose death was today, the new university began its sessions with 300 students, 47 of whom were women. The institution, its founders say is intended to prepare a large body of anti-religionists and active propagandists of militant atheism.

ANOTHER IN MOSCOW

Moscow—(P)—Following the action of Leninград in creating an anti-religious university, the Society of Militant Atheists today opened a similar institute in Moscow. The students number more than 400.

THREE MORE ARRESTED IN INDIANA CLEANUP

East Chicago, Ind.—(P)—United States marshals today arrested two city officials and a police captain on indictments for conspiracy to violate the dry laws at the same time re-arresting Mayor Ralph P. Hale and two others involved in the federal grand jury investigation of crime and corruption in Lake-co. The officials newly arrested were Edward Higgins, president of the board of safety which controls the police and fire departments, Hyman Cohen, member of the board of city citizens died in Hungary and officials charge that Zuba obtained the dead man's passport and came to America.

M'DONALD IS PLEASED OVER VISIT RESULT

"Delighted With General Response," Says Premier as He Quits Capital

IS CHEERED EN ROUTE

Stimson Announces Acceptance of Invitation After Visit Is Ended

Washington—(P)—Coinciding with the departure of Prime Minister MacDonald, from the capital, the American government today formally accepted the invitation of Great Britain to participate in a five power naval limitations conference.

Secretary Stimson made the announcement shortly after returning from the station where he said good bye to the British premier. Acceptance on the part of the United States has been regarded as a foregone conclusion since conversations between London and Washington have been in progress on the question for some time.

Mr. MacDonald's visit was an outgrowth of these discussions and during his stay here he went over the situation in detail with President Hoover.

Both regard further naval limitations as a step toward world peace. The note accepting the invitation, received last week, was drafted by state department officials while the president and prime minister were engaged in their conversations.

Mr. Stimson said President Hoover had assured the premier the United States would accept.

SENT TO LONDON

The acceptance communication has been forwarded to London, for delivery to Foreign Minister Henderson by the American Charge d' Affaires, Mr. Nathan. It is brief. Its substance is being withheld until tomorrow, in order that it first could be delivered to the British government.

Besides Great Britain and the United States, the other powers invited to participate in the conference are Japan, France and Italy. The party will be held in London in January.

While there has been no announcement regarding the personnel of the American delegation to the gathering, indications so far have pointed to Secretary Stimson being selected to head the group. Ambassador Davies to London and Ambassador Gibson to Belgium, are available and have been mentioned as possible delegates in unofficial circles. In naval circles it is considered a foregone conclusion that Rear Admiral Hillyar P. Jones, who has had long experience in naval negotiations and conferences, will be included in the commission. There has also been a suggestion that two members of congress, one a Democrat, would be included.

It is customary to include on such a commission a member of the minority party. Besides the delegates a large staff of advisers and naval technical assistants must be selected. It has been pointed out that Secretary Stimson in going to the conference could return the MacDonald visit.

WAGGONER GIVEN 15-YEAR SENTENCE

Colorado Bank President Pleads Guilty to Mail Fraud Charge

New York—(P)—Charles Delos Waggoner, Telluride, Colo., bank president, was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment today on his plea of guilty to mail fraud in connection with a scheme to obtain $500,000 from six New York banks by means of forged authorization papers.

Witnesses had been assembled from as far away as the west coast for Waggoner's trial, but when the case was called today defense counsel entered a plea of guilty. United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle then moved for immediate imposition of sentence and the banker was sentenced to a 15 year term in Atlanta, penitentiary.

In asking for a severe sentence the prosecutor accused Waggoner of embezzlement from his own bank in connection with his handling of a large estate. He said that this embezzlement furnished the motive for the more recent crime against the New York banks, committed in desperation "when the day of reckoning was at hand."

U. S. REPORTS GAINS IN IMPORTS, EXPORTS

WORLD PREMIERE GIVEN U. S. OPERA IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(P)—An American opera, sung in English, was given its successful world premiere at the Majestic theatre last night by the American Opera company. The opera, "Voland of Cyprus," was written by Cale Young Price, with music by Clarence Loomis of Chicago. It is in three acts.

Critical comment in the morning newspapers laid emphasis on the beauty of the score and the manner in which the composer retained in music the spirit of the drama. The choral climaxes on a tragic note, was noted especially by the reviewers.

The line of the action of the opera is the sixteenth century and the scene an island in the Mediterranean. Three more performances of "Voland" are to be given during the fortnight repertoire of the company.

PHILADELPHIA WELCOME

Philadelphia—(P)—Upon his arrival in Philadelphia today, Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald of Great Britain, said he was content and convinced that in the more congenial atmosphere there would be satisfactory results from his conferences with President Hoover.

"I cannot say anything about my visit to Washington," the premier said. "I am delighted with the general response the American people and the American press have given to the attempts of the president and myself have been making to arrive at a mutual understanding."

"I am going away content and convinced that in the more congenial atmosphere there will be a satisfactory result. Some matters will take a short time to straighten out but the great thing that has been achieved is that we have removed the points that used to lead to misunderstanding and friction."

In addition to a reception committee at the station a delegation of 36 British war veterans living in Philadelphia formed two lines through which the British statesman walked. As he proceeded he shook hands with every man down one line and then retraced his steps to do similar honors to the other line.

While he was thus engaged, Miss Isabel MacDonald was presented with a bouquet of roses by a British war nurse.

About 500 persons were at the Baltimore and Ohio station to greet the premier. As he was about to enter an automobile the crowd broke through the police line and surrounded the distinguished visitor. Mr. MacDonald was very gracious and smilingly shook hands with all in reach. He was then driven to the hotel.

After the reception the prime minister was to board his special train again for New York, leaving here at 10:30.

Bank Merger Head Defends Trend Toward Chain Group

Madison—(P)—The inability of the unit bank in the growing centers of Wisconsin adequately to serve the needs of industry and agriculture has caused the formation of the group banking system in this state, Walter Kasten, president of the First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee, said last night in an address before the Kiwanis and other service clubs.

President Kasten, leading figure in the formation of the Wisconsin Bankshares corporation—a holding company for the new group—saw in the new state financial system a means to combat the concentration of wealth in a financial center outside of the state.

He told his listeners that the formation of the bank group was the direct result of the inability of small banks to give adequate service but that behind the scenes lurked the danger of financial centers other than in the state gaining control of Wisconsin's banking resources. The speaker cited the acquisition of northwestern Wisconsin banks by financial interests in St. Paul and Minnesota as an example and ventured the opinion that Chicago and Detroit would have acquired banks in the rest of the state had not a purely state group been formed.

Mr. Kasten likened the recent bank group formation unto the chain store idea and expressed a firm conviction that by centralized control the banking institutions of the state could better serve their clientele.

"The officials in charge of the administration of banking laws," said the speaker, "are in the movement benefits which can never be afforded

Four Men Hold Up Harrison Dance Hall, Get $50 In Cash

$1,000 LEFT BEHIND WHEN ROBBERS FLEE

Cheese Factory Pay Roll Money Overlooked by Bandits; Girl Spreads Alarm

Four men burglarized a soft drink parlor at Harrison, three miles south of Sherwood at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening obtaining $50 in cash and a $50 check. More than $1,000 in cash concealed in a secret drawer behind the bar, was overlooked.

It is believed the men were after the $1,000 which was the payroll of a cheese factory across the road. Patrons received their monthly pay at the hall.

Upon entering the place owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. James Carney, two well dressed men ordered drinks which they paid for. They left the place with the remark, "See you later, Jim."

A few minutes later they returned, accompanied by a third man who trained two revolvers on Mr. and Mrs. Carney and John Diederich, a customer and ordered them to "throw up your hands or I'll drop you — three."

Miss Mary Yenseck, an 18-year-old girl, who makes her home with the Carneys, in her fright dashed from the room unnoticed and hid in a clothes closet on the first floor.

The trio was driven up the stairway to the second floor dance hall. They were bound with three pairs of hands, and tied to the stairway banister with heavy ropes. Then the thieves proceeded to make a thorough search of the place.

After ransacking the place the bandits locked the front door and left through the back door. While they were locking the front door, Miss Yenseck dashed through the rear door and ran across the street to the Richard Baum place.

Mr. Baum immediately notified the Sherwood telephone operator of the burglary and the alarm was spread. The bandits left in a high powered car driven by a fourth man. They fled south on Highway 55.

Charles Groeschel, undersheriff, Norbert Hoeschuh, Arthur Schmidt, and Alfred Nelson, deputy sheriffs, were called. It was necessary to use a hack saw to remove the handcuffs from the wrists of Mr. and Mrs. Carney and Mr. Diederich.

WILL TRY TO SAVE BANDIT FROM DEATH

Expect Capital Punishment Foe to Ask Life-Term for Abshier

Lamar, Colo. — (AP) — As the trial of George J. Abshier on a charge of first degree murder entered its third day, the possibility arose today that L. W. Cunningham, attorney for another of the men who have confessed participation in the robbery of the First National bank of Lamar, would appear before the jury to plead for life imprisonment for Abshier.

Cunningham, who was relieved at his own request of the responsibility of representing Abshier and Howard L. Royston, second defendant charged with the slaying of A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, now represents only Ralph Fiegle, third member of the gang facing trial. Former district judge Cunningham is a strong foe of capital punishment.

It is known that Byron G. Rogers, counsel for Abshier and Royston, has suggested to Cunningham that he appear during the closing defense arguments in an effort to save Abshier and Royston from the noose for their participation in the holdup on May 23, 1928.

The robbery resulted in the death of the bank president; his son John F. Parrish; E. A. Kessinger, cashier, who was kidnapped and slain, and Dr. W. W. Wineinger, Dighton, Kas., physician, who was murdered after being called to dress the wounds of one of the gang.

Court was ordered opened today at 9 o'clock a. m. a half hour earlier than usual. It was considered not unlikely the first of the three cases would go to the jury by Friday night.

Abshier's confession to his participation in the robbery was expected to be introduced by the state as its prize exhibit before the close of the day. Allyn Cole, deputy district attorney, said the state would not attempt to prove in either the Abshier or Royston case that bullets from their guns actually resulted in the deaths of the two men killed in the bank. The law, he said, provided the same penalty for mere participation in the affair.

WANTS TEXAS INLAND WATERWAY TO OCEAN

Dallas, Texas — (AP) — Congressman Hatten W. Sumners has assured the Dallas Chamber of Commerce that he will seek congressional approval for survey of a project to connect Dallas with the sea by an inland waterway following the Trinity river to the Gulf.

Dr. J. B. Cranfill of Dallas, said today Secretary of War James W. Good had committed himself to the survey. Such a waterway would be 510 miles long. Committees of the chamber of commerce are investigating the feasibility of swelling the waters of the Trinity river, in case such a project is launched, with waters from Garza dam near here and from a proposed million gallon reservoir to be built on the Ouchita and Red rivers.

HOPPI RUNNER FAILS IN 100-MILE RACE WITH WESTERN PONY

Roswell, N. M. — (AP) — "Flying Eagle," sturdy Hopi runner, today failed in his attempt to match speed and endurance in a race against "Boss," 9-year-old western cow pony, on an oval track here.

At the end of the forty-third mile of a programmed 100-mile race the Indian runner fell exhausted on the dirt track leading to an emergency hospital. At that time he was five miles behind the Mustang.

Flying Eagle is one of the best known of the famed Hopi runners. He was used recently in the long search through the Hopi mesas in quest of the lost air liner, City of San Francisco.

Pair Guilty Of Burglary At Mellon

Authorities Believe Arrests Will Solve Other Thefts And Robberies

Ashland — (AP) — Authorities today felt certain the series of burglaries and bank robberies in northern Wisconsin the past 18 months were nearing solution, as they held Milo Rasmussen and Jonas Biller in jail for pronouncement of sentence for burglary charges.

Rasmussen and Biller were arrested by Sheriff Sanders and A. M. DeYoursen of the State Bankers' association. They pleaded guilty late yesterday before Judge E. N. Risjord in circuit court to the theft of $5,000 worth of merchandise from a store at Mellon.

Rasmussen was arrested in Virginia, Minn. He is implicated in the theft of some outboard motor boats at Washburn.

Yesterday Jack Schoonover assisted a sheriff's force in locating the loot from the robbery in the vicinity of Medford. He and Nick McNamara another suspect in the robbery will be arraigned on the robbery charge today or tomorrow. DeYoursen stated yesterday that he was confident the men to be sentenced and arraigned on the robbery charge form the nucleus of the gang which has robbed banks in Northern Wisconsin.

Forrest Case was released after employees of the Rib Lake bank robbed three months ago, said they had never seen him before. Case is already under bond on a Jones law case at Wausau, Wis., is charged with larceny in Washburn-co. He was arrested at Stevens Point and authorities hoped to connect him with the operations of the other four suspects.

McNamara is accused of being the "fence" for the gang and was freed today on a $2,000 bond. McNamara is charged with robbing a store of one of his competitors at Draper. The alleged "fence" own stores at Draper and Mellon.

KENOSHAN OF BYRD'S GROUP RESCUES PAI

Kenosha — (AP) — Walker Perkins' ability as a "musher" has placed him on the Byrd expedition's honor roll.

Perkins, whose home is in Kenosha, has been training sled dogs in the Antarctic for several weeks. Recently, according to his letter to friends here, his instruction brought about the rescue of Al Eggelson, a companion.

Perkins, on one of his training trips with the dogs, came upon an emergency supply camp in the heart of the glacier which covers more than 30 miles of the Wakefield range in New Zealand. At the camp was Eggelson, his feet and legs frozen and his hands and arms numb from cold.

Placing Eggelson on his sled, Perkins mushed through 15 miles of loosely packed snow bringing him to the Hermitage, the glacier edge camp where he was given medical treatment.

Commander Richard Byrd commended Perkins and credited him with saving Eggelson's life.

INTERNATIONAL LAW EXPERTS CONVENE FOR WORLD CONFAB

Great Legal Authorities from Many Parts of Globe Are Present

Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. — (AP) — Many of the world's greatest legal authorities attended the opening of the Institute of International Law conference here today.

Election of officers, members and associate members to the institute and the mapping of a program to be followed during the eight days of the conference, were scheduled for the first session which was called behind closed doors.

Formed in 1873, the Institute of International law is meeting for the first time in the United States. More than 50 delegates from foreign countries arrived yesterday. Approximately 100 leading international lawyers will be in attendance.

Dr. James Brown Scott, general secretary of the Carnegie endowment for international peace and president of the institute, said that a wide variety of world problems would come before the conference and declarations would be made on them.

Judicial status of associations in international law; regulation of river navigation in international law; access of individuals to international commissions and courts of international justice; creation of an international bureau of navigation and a clause of obligation in international treaties dealing with the conflict of laws are among the topics tentatively scheduled for discussion.

The institute, Dr. Scott pointed out, has no connection with the Hague but most of its members are representatives of their governments at the permanent court. The work of determining international relations in a way is in the hands of the institute members, he said.

Elilus Roca, famous jurist, will preside at the institute's open meetings. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university and of the Carnegie endowment for international peace, was to deliver the address of welcome at the first open session today.

The fourth conference of teachers of international law and related subjects is being held in conjunction with the institute. Round table conferences will be held nightly and committee meetings are scheduled Saturday.

CHICAGO PLANE STILL FLIES TOWARD RECORD

Chicago — (AP) — The Chicago-We will come within striking distance of its own refueling endurance record when it passed the 240-hour mark and soared into its eleventh day at 6:25 a. m. today. In its last previous endurance flight the plane remained aloft 291 hours.

A cold wind from off the lake and lower temperature caused the two mystery pilots late yesterday to ask for warmer clothing, which was dropped to them from the refueling plane. The fliers reported that with warmer clothing, they were confident of beating the 421-hour record set in St. Louis. The plane's motor was functioning perfectly today, field attaches said.

Gold "Transmuted" From Lead-Germans See Hoax

Munich, Germany — (AP) — Franz Tausend, a former plumber and known widely as a professed alchemist, purported here yesterday to produce a tenth of a gram of gold from 1.67 centigrams of lead. Officials of the mint watched him carefully, but still are not convinced he actually obtained the gold from the lead.

Indeed, feeling grew today that he had hoodwinked even the high officials of the state mint, who issued an official statement reading: "After experimenting for two hours Tausend produced a grain of the purest gold, weighing one-tenth of a gram, which was smelted from 1.67 grams of lead. Experts describe the result as surprisingly favorable and contradictory to scientific knowledge. The director of the mint, however, is unable to suppress doubts as to whether Tausend was able to smuggle the gold into the test in spite of all precautions."

It was generally conceded the former plumber, who has been in jail for having defrauded numerous high

WOULD REVIVE OLD LAKES ASSOCIATION

Northern Resort Owners Discuss Situation at Eagle River Meeting

Eagle River — (AP) — In an attempt to revive the old Land o' Lakes association, north-central and north-eastern Wisconsin resort owners and business men met in mass meeting here Thursday.

George Bishop, booming-voiced promoter of the upper peninsula of Michigan, as secretary of that region's development association, addressed the meeting on needs of the Wisconsin lakes country in promotion. He suggested ways in which his development of civic spirit might be brought about, telling of the educational train that was operated through the Upper Peninsula a few years ago.

Duane H. Kipp, superintendent of education and publications for the Wisconsin conservation commission talked to the lake-land group on "Progress in Wisconsin."

Angus McDonald, Rhinelander, president of the revived Association, called for the purpose of saving the "Land o' Lakes, Wis., secretary, and Abel St. Louis, treasurer, were present, with these directors: Frank Carter; Assemblyman Charles Lacy; Mercer; John Vandervort, W. E. Switzer and L. A. Leadbetter.

During the winter of 1928-29 interested persons of Vilas and Oneida counties established an entire circuit for the purpose of saving the "Land o' Lakes" name for application to this region. Meetings followed at which it was decided to call today's meeting for residents of Iron, Forest, Vilas and Oneida counties. The group plans to prefix "Land o' Lakes" to "Upper Wisconsin."

"We must organize to get the things so vitally needed for our part of the state," said Mr. MacDonald in opening the meeting. "We need men and women who will talk and fight for better conditions."

The tax delinquency situation, brought about by the slaughtering of upper Wisconsin forests will be given extensive attention by the newly formed group, speakers said.

Scientists See Link Of Pueblo And Mayan Culture

Washington — (AP) — A link between the culture of Pueblo Indians of southwestern United States and Central America's Mayas was foreseen today as Col. Charles Lindbergh completed his latest aerial exploration.

The Carnegie institution of Washington, for which the aviator has collected photographic evidence and notes that reveal new material of both civilizations, foresees that possibility.

The one civilization, towering in the majesty of ancient Mayas has been hidden from the world by a jungle weeder; the other, a rich Pueblo culture reared in the sun-baked sands of Arizona and New Mexico, has the unfriendly desert as its protector.

Both areas, rich in the material from which science unrolls its pic-

SCRIPPS CASE GOES TO SUPREME COURT

Widow of Publisher's Son Appeals from Award of $5,000,000

Cincinnati, Ohio — (AP) — The appeal of Mrs. Josephine Scripps of Miramar, Calif., from a federal court decision denying her claim of more than $5,000,000 in the estate of her late father-in-law, E. W. Scripps, founder of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, was before the United States District Court of Appeals today.

Mrs. Scripps, the widow of the late James G. Scripps, who served as editor-in-chief of the group of dailies, instituted suit in the federal district courts, seeking an accounting and judgment of the elder Scripps' estate, but the case was dismissed by Judge Smith Hickenlooper.

The hearing scheduled today was on her plea to reinstate the action.

The amount sought by Mrs. Scripps her suit contends, is her husband's share of the increment accruing to her father-in-law during the management of the newspapers by the younger Scripps. She said her father-in-law agreed to share with his sons in the profits. Judge Hickenlooper, in dismissing her suit, said the purported agreement was not legally binding as the father kept to himself the final decision on how the profits should be divided.

Mrs. Scripps is represented by Charles Evans Hughes and John W. Peck of Cincinnati, former federal district judge. Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, is counsel for the Scripps family. Scripps, named in the action as trustee of the Scripps estate.

Both groups decided to work on clothing as a project. Miss Thompson discussed modern methods of solving home problems.

BLAMES DRY LAW FOR CRIME IN AMERICA

Milwaukee District Attorney Scores Unreasonable Laws of U. S.

Milwaukee — (AP) — To prohibition must be placed the major share of the blame for the nation's crime wave in the opinion of District Attorney George A. Bowman, who spoke before the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police association at its convention program here yesterday.

The prosecutor pointed out that the prohibition law comes under the classification of statutes which interfere with the personal habits and the liberties of the public and that these statutes invite disregard for reasonable law as well as the supposedly unreasonable.

CITY ADVERTISES
FOR BIDS ON BRICK

Oneida-st Will Be Paved
This Fall, Common Council Insists

Convinced that the paving of Oneida-st should be done this fall, the common council instructed the city clerk to advertise for bids for 150,000 bricks and 500 yards of sand Wednesday night. After the city attorney pointed out the necessity of advertising for bids before material for the pavement could be purchased, the board of public works, under whose supervision the work will be done, brought the matter before the council for immediate decision.

Despite the fact that a number of aldermen felt that a bit of the treatment of the street next spring would be better, the council decided to go ahead with the brick paving this fall. Bids must be in the hands of the board of public works by 1:30 Oct. 25.

Preliminary work on the budget for 1930 was started Wednesday night. The next meeting devoted to the preparation of the budget will be held as soon as the library, park board, poor committee and police department budgets are filed.

Policeman And Robber Slain In Indiana Gun Fight

TWO BANDITS ARE WOUNDED; ONE MAY DIE

Youths, Facing Robbery Charges in Chicago, Now Being Held for Murder

Hammond, Ind.—(AP)—Five youthful gunmen who chose to shoot it out with police rather than to return to Chicago to face robbery charges, today stood charged with the murder of a policeman.

Two of the bandits were wounded in the shooting affray yesterday afternoon, one so seriously that he was expected to die. Another of the robber gang was killed in the gun battle which also cost the life of a Hammond policeman.

Police officials asserted that they would hold the youths on charges of murder, rather than turn them over to Chicago authorities for trial on the robbery charges. The gunmen have all been identified, police said, as the robber band which several nights ago held up the Palm Gardens roadhouse in Cook-co, Ill., stealing $12,000 in cash and $7,500 in jewelry.

Two young women, Mrs. Harriet Hendon, alias Harriet Austin of Chicago and Milwaukee, and Mrs. Virginia Russo Bentley of Macon, Ga., were found trembling with fear in a clothes closet in the men's apartment after the shooting and were being questioned today.

RAID ON APARTMENT

The shooting took place when Hammond and Cook-co, Ill., police tried to break into the men's apartment. Sgt. Leo Fox was fatally wounded in the first blast of gunfire and Walter Warzinsky, of Welton, W. Va., said to have been the leader of the gunmen, was slain a few minutes later. Sgt. F. L. Farago of the Cook-co highway police, was wounded three times in the hip; William Jesky of Ambrose, Pa., one of the robbers, was slightly wounded and Peter Augustynowicz, was shot five times and was expected to die.

Those captured are Jesky, Augustynowicz, Benjamin Stawski, 20, of Ambrose; Steve Davenport, 22, of Keokuk, Iowa; John Sawa, 22, of Gary, Ind., and John Mikoski, whose arrest last Sunday night led to yesterday's raid.

Besides the Palm Gardens holdup, police announced that the men have confessed to robberies in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Steubenville, Ohio.

BLUE KEY ELECTS CANNON PRESIDENT

Service Organization to Co-operate With Student Senate for Homecoming

Ross Cannon, son of the Rev. O. D. Cannon, 514 E. John-st., a senior at Lawrence college, was elected president of Blue Key fraternity, campus service organization, at a meeting of the group at the Theta Phi fraternity house Wednesday evening. Cannon defeated Urban Rommel, Monasha, for the office.

Blue Key will cooperate with the college student senate in sponsoring the 1929 homecoming program. It was decided, and Jerry Slavik, president of the senate, was empowered to call upon any members of Blue Key for aid in lining up reunion activities.

Carlston Voeckes, Appleton, was elected secretary of the organization to fill the office left vacant by Cannon. Eighteen members of Blue Key, representing every fraternity on the campus, were present at the meeting.

Blue Key will follow its policy of meeting twice a month during the year. It will hold its first general meeting of the season at Ormsby hall, freshman girls' dormitory, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23.

WRISTON IS INVITED TO DINNER HONORING PREMIER M'DONALD

Press of Business Keeps College Head from Attending Gathering

Wisconsin's only member of the Council of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Henry Wriston, president of Lawrence college, has received an invitation to attend the dinner to be given by the council in honor of Premier MacDonald at the Ritz-Carlton hotel, New York, Friday, when premier will speak over a national radio hookup. President Wriston stated that the press of local affairs necessitated forwarding his regrets.

The membership of the Council of Foreign Relations includes such notable as Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes, John W. Davis, Frank B. Rowland, Secretary of State, and many other prominent in diplomatic circles. Membership to the council was extended to President Wriston in recognition of his achievements in the field of diplomatic history. The honor came shortly after he delivered the Albert Shaw lectures on American Diplomacy at Johns Hopkins university.

Dr. Wriston also participated in the Institute of Politics held annually at Williams-town, Mass. President Wriston recently published a treatise on American Diplomacy in connection with his extensive researches in the archives of the state department.

The Council of Foreign Affairs was formed shortly after the close of the World war. Its origin is attributed to a nucleus of experts attached to the American Commission for Peace Negotiations and people in government service who had come to feel the necessity of deeper understanding of the problems of foreign relations.

A limited number of representatives of academic life were admitted to membership in recognition for sterling and unusual contributions to the field of American Diplomacy.

The Council is non-partisan in character and expresses no group opinion. It functions in presenting opportunities for statesmen and scholars of diplomacy and foreign affairs to express mature opinions on questions of international importance and scope.

Two publications are sponsored by this group of experts: one, the annual survey of American Foreign Relations and a magazine Foreign Affairs to which the leading statesmen of Europe contribute.

FOSTER SAYS BRITAIN, U. S. PREPARE FOR WAR

Toronto—(AP)—William Z. Foster, Communist leader in the United States, in a speech last night asserted that the Hoover-MacDonald naval reduction discussions were only camouflage for war preparations.

He addressed a meeting arranged by the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, held outside the city limits. The chairman explained that since a disturbance in Queens park last summer police had prevented so-called Communist open air meetings.

"The war danger," Foster said, "is developing because of competition between Great Britain and the United States in world markets. It is necessary for the capitalists to still objections of the masses and to keep them away from the capitalists peace movements, the Kellogg pact and peace conferences, but the preparation for war goes on just the same. The American Federation of Labor will prove to be a tool in developing this war situation. It follows the program of imperialism."

The American Federation of Labor is holding its annual convention in Toronto.

DEDICATE NEW GYM AN COLLEGE CAMPUS ON MONDAY, NOV. 4

Dr. Jesse Feiring Williams Will Be Principal Speaker on Program

Formal dedication of the new Alexander gymnasium will be observed Monday, Nov. 4, it was announced at the Lawrence college office Thursday. Dr. Jesse Feiring Williams, of the teachers college, Columbia university, will be the principal speaker. At the same time announcement was made by President Henry M. Wriston that an additional $10,000, to be used in beautifying the gymnasium grounds, had been donated to the college by L. M. Alexander, Port Edwards, chairman of the board of trustees and principal donor to the gymnasium which will bear his name.

The gymnasium will not be opened for use prior to the dedication services, but will be taken over for student activities directly after. The complete program for dedication day has not been completed, but there will be several prominent speakers in addition to Dr. Williams, who is considered the outstanding authority on physical education in the United States. Both Arthur C. Denny and Miss Katherine Wisner of the college physical education staff received their undergraduate training from the Columbia instructor.

Alexander's latest gift of $10,000, which swells the total of his donations to $155,000, will bring the entire expenditure on the new structure above the $375,000 mark, it was said. The donation will be used in filling the drives and sidewalks around the gymnasium, and in generally beautifying the grounds. It is expected that the building will be opened for use by the student body on the day following its formal dedication.

SUE FARMER BECAUSE HE BROKE CONTRACT

Asks $500 Damage Because Cabbage Wasn't Delivered Under Terms of Agreement

Charging that Peter C. Weed, Bear Creek farmer failed to fulfill his contract to deliver eight acres of cabbage to the Flanagan Brothers Pickle company started suit in the justice branch of municipal court this morning for $500.

Weed, the complaint alleges, contracted with the Flanagan brothers to raise eight acres of cabbage which he was to deliver to the company for $5 per ton. Weed's eight acres yielded about 80 tons of cabbage of which only seven tons were delivered to the Flanagan at $5 per ton while the balance of 73 tons was sold in the open market at $14 and $20 per ton, it is alleged.

As a result of Weed's failure to deliver the cabbage the Flanagan brothers claimed they were forced to purchase cabbage in the open market at a loss to them of about $500. They ask that amount in damages.

Weed claims he was ready to deliver the cabbage to the company but they refused to take it, claiming they were not ready to receive it. Weed alleges this breach of contract gave him the right to dispose of the cabbage in the open market.

Talks To Parents

PLEASURE AND PAIN BY ALICE JUDSON FEALE

During all their waking hours children are learning. They are responding to their environment and are being modified by it. They tend, as in common with the rest of the animal world, to remember and repeat those experiences which have proven pleasant and to forget and avoid those which have not.

The process of bringing up your child is really just a matter of seeing that he enjoys the right things and gets no opportunity to develop a taste for the wrong ones.

People have always been aware of the fact that experiences associated with pain are not readily repeated, for punishment, used ostensibly as a deterrent, is an ancient institution. But the precious urge to repeat pleasant experiences has only lately begun to be exploited by parents and teachers.

Since only pleasant experiences tend to be retained it is well worth while for us to think out ways of making desirable responses as pleasant as possible. We must learn to keep open always the path to pleasure through constructive activity and wholesome social adaptation.

In his free play we may rely upon the child to find constructive and happy activities for himself provided we supply him with the right environment. But in matters of routine which lead to the formation of desirable social habits he needs help if he is to find pleasure in good behavior.

We need to imbue with the play spirit such tasks as hanging up his clothes and helping to set the table. We need to spread thickly the sweet of our approval when he has done the right thing in spite of a strong desire to do the contrary. We need to think in terms of rewards rather than in terms of punishments.

FAREWELL TO CAPITAL Washington—(AP)—Concluding a visit expected to affect the destiny of nations, Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's prime minister, left Washington today at 9:32 a. m., for Philadelphia.

Secretary Stimson and other high officials were at the station to bid farewell to the British statesman who for nearly a week has been in the capital conferring with President Herbert Hoover on means of promoting world peace.

These conferences have been pronounced satisfactory by both the president and premier and upon his departure today Mr. MacDonald appeared well pleased with his trip.

The trip from the British embassy to the union station was made in White House cars sent early this morning by the president for the use of the prime minister and his party. Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, and Captain Alan Buchan, the president's naval aide, rode with the prime minister to the station.

The premier was dressed in a blue business suit, soft collar and blue and white tie and top coat and carried a cane. This is the first time during his stay in the city that he has not worn formal clothes.

ISSUE JOINT STATEMENT President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald looked forward today, not only to effecting the Anglo-American naval accord through a five-power agreement, but to activating the old problem of freedom of the seas and other "historical problems" of the two nations.

"We approach old historical problems from a new angle and in a new atmosphere," a joint statement said. "On the assumption that war between us is banished, and that conflicts between our military and naval forces cannot take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution in ways satisfactory to both countries."

MacDonald was made, that the American and British governments would begin conversations upon them, following the same method as that pursued on naval limitation which resulted in their agreement on parity, or quality, of strength, as between the two nations in each category of war craft.

Both this joint pronouncement and that given later by Mr. MacDonald alone emphasized the treaty to the world as an instrument of national policy had been made the basis for future relations between the two governments.

"We have both agreed to constantly keep the fact in front of us," Mr. MacDonald said, "and to use it for the purpose of coming to an agreement on subjects which have defied agreement up to now."

"In consequence of that I take with me to London a series of questions all of which are more or less subjects of study by the various departments concerned and of consideration between the dominions and ourselves with the object of coming to agreement upon them."

"All this has been arrived at not for the purpose of dividing America and ourselves from the rest of the world, but rather to enable each of us to be more effective than ever in cooperating with other nations to establish the security of peace."

LINDBERGH AND HIS PARTY ON LAST LEG OF FLIGHT TO MIAMI

Four Ancient Maya Cities Are Discovered in Inland Quintana Roo

Miami—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his party left Cozumel at 9:56 a. m., today on the last leg of the return flight to Miami from Belize, British Honduras, according to a radio message relayed to Pan-American Airways here.

Isia Cozumel, Quintana Roo, Mexico—(AP)—Four ancient Maya cities, hitherto uncharted, were discovered yesterday by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, his wife, and their companions in several hours flying in inland Quintana Roo.

The first was sighted within an hour after the party left Belize, British Honduras, and shortly after it crossed the Rio Hondo into the territory. Several definite mounds set about a triangular plot were seen and the location was mapped carefully, although it was too cloudy for photographing it.

Mrs. Lindbergh, herself discovered the second ruins which at first seemed just a bit of white wall glistening above the deep green of the bush. Three small towns finally were located nearby, Dr. A. V. Kidder, Carnegie institute scientist, is leaving they might be of great importance to the study of the Maya civilization which flourished a millennium ago.

When the third city was discovered later in the afternoon Santa Cruz Indians beneath ran from the plane as it flew above them. The ruins were laid out in almost a perfect square on sloping hills, from the highest of which the Maya mounds were perfectly visible to the plain.

Numbers of small dwellings temples and mounds appeared in the north.

Col. Lindbergh sighted the fourth ruin, probably the most interesting find of the day, a great mound rising 60 or 70 feet above the ground, with its crumbling walls visible from as far as 22 miles away, Dr. Kidder described it as a perfect type of Maya ruin.

The ruins were within 30 miles of Santa Cruz de Bravo no human habitations were seen.

Two other cities, well known to the archaeologists who have investigated the ruins in this region, then were picked up by the party aboard the plane. As it headed for Isia Cozumel, one of these was the city of Cozumel, larger than the four ruins the aviators had discovered for themselves.

The other, Tulum, is one of the largest on the peninsula, with 25 buildings strung along the sea coast and grouped about a great square. The colonnade, the ancient city, three times as large as the ruins, and descended, the party inflating the rubber boat, and going ashore, they spent more than two hours ashore, visiting every section of the ruins.

AMANULLAH WOULDN'T REFUSE ENVOY'S JOB

London—(AP)—Amanullah, who lost his throne to Bacho Sakao, Afghan water-boy, early in 1929 has not given up the hope of regaining his throne, but if that is impossible he is quite willing to become an Afghan ambassador in Rome.

Informed of his place of exile in Rome by British correspondents of the fall of Kabul, capital of Afghanistan before the forces of Nadir Khan, the former ruler said he had not received official news of the collapse of the usurper, but was watching the situation carefully and would proceed cautiously until he knew the will of his people. If they wanted him to return he would be ready; but it was desirable they express this wish through a plebiscite. He said he would abide by the result whatever it might be.

He commented he was unaware of Nadir's plans. Nadir always had been faithful to him but it might be he was reconquering Kabul for himself and would become ruler. In this case he said, he was willing, if asked, to serve as Nadir's ambassador at Rome.

FLAMES SWEEPING OVER SWAMP LAND IN KANOTE MARSH

500 Acres Burning as Farmers Maintain Vigil to Guard Stock

Approximately 500 acres of swamp and marsh land in the Kanote marsh in the towns of Bortan, Liberty, and Maple Creek are burning, and farms northwest of the swamp are in danger, it was reported Thursday.

The fire, which is believed to have been started by duck hunters, has been burning for two days, farmers report, and dense smoke hovers over Highway 76 and on the Shiocton-rd.

The fire is branching in three directions and unless rain falls, may spread over 700 to 800 acres within the next 24 hours. A strong east wind Wednesday night fanned the flames.

No damage has been reported but farmers living near the swamp fear for their stock which graze in the marsh land. A constant watch is being maintained.

No steps have been taken to extinguish the flames, as efforts to stop the burning underbrush would be futile. Several sections of heavy timber in the center of the swamp have been destroyed.

Many people from New London, Shiocton, and other neighboring towns and villages jammed Highway 76 Wednesday night in the vicinity of the fire to watch the flames which could be seen about a mile and a half from the road. The sky was illuminated for miles at night.

KRAFT PAPER MEN WILL ELIMINATE UNFAIR METHODS

Rules of Fair Trade Among Competitors Are Adopted by Industry

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Washington Correspondent of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—Kraft paper manufacturers have agreed, with the aid and approval of the Federal Trade commission, to eliminate unfair methods of competition and "other destructive practices" from their industry.

In addition to adopting rules of fair trade, the industry plans to appoint a permanent committee to investigate violations of these rules.

The Federal Trade commission will aid in enforcing at law the rules adopted on the following points:

1. Including or attempting to include breach of contract between a competitor and his customer;
2. Defamation of a competitor by false statements implying dishonorable conduct, inability to perform contracts, or questionable credit;
3. False disparagement of the weight, substance, strength, grade, or quality of a competitor's goods;
4. Misrepresentation of kraft paper as to weight, substance, strength, grade, or quality;
5. Malicious interference with a competitor's business by enjoyment of his employees from his employment;
6. Discriminations in price not based on grade, quality, cost of selling and transportation, or quantity of paper sold;
7. Secret rebates, refunds, credits, or unearned discounts, or other

Food Faddist Is Menace, Medics' Editor Declares

Louisville, Ky. —(AP)—The food faddist was called a "menace" today by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, Chicago, speaking before a session of the National Restaurant association convention.

Asserting that "faddism has no place in food," Dr. Fishbein said that "the food faddist is especially a menace because he invariably tries to bring other people around to his point of view. Nothing ruins the appetite like an oration on digestion and indigestion delivered by a food fanatic in the course of a meal."

Modern science, he said, urges a balanced meal, containing a variety of food substances—"breakfast that will include fresh fruit, cereal, milk, butter, bread and perhaps eggs and ham or bacon; a luncheon that will have a salad and some vegetables and something to sustain energy; and a dinner that is complete from soup to nuts."

"This does not mean that the human being must gorge himself with food," he warned. "The number of calories necessary to sustain life has been carefully estimated. What is needed is a varied diet that will appeal to the appetite and supply all the essentials."

Some day, Dr. Fishbein predicted, the wise restaurateur "is going to have a rest room adjacent to his cave where the tired business man, the nervously strained stenographer, or the exhausted mechanic will lie quietly ten or fifteen minutes before and after the noon luncheon."

EXPECT 10,000 AT STATE UNIVERSITY

9,507 Students, 430 More Than Year Ago, Already Registered

Madison —(AP)—Predictions that the University of Wisconsin will have more than 10,000 students this year have been made by Frank O. Holt, registrar. There were 9,507 students, 430 more than a year ago, enrolled early this week for the largest total in Wisconsin's history.

Mr. Holt expressed himself as:
"If the enrollment the second semester of this year approximates the enrollment of the second semester of 1928, the total enrollment in the university for the year 1929-30 will be well over 10,000 students."

Under the present registration figures, the law school is the university's only department showing a decrease in enrollment.

An enrollment in men students has been registered, Mr. Holt said, pointing out that there are 6,020 men and 3,487 women as compared to 5,645 men and 3,271 women a year ago.

The enrollment by colleges:

America registers 94% increase in Eights

As proof of the tremendous growth in public preference for the Eight, the registration figures from 43 states* for the first seven months of this year tell their own story. Eights above $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase while Sixes in the same price field decreased 18 per cent.

Nobody can doubt the evidence. We are passing into an eight-cylinder era. Already, all of the finest American cars are Eights. In fact, 41 per cent of all makes are Eights, and the number is constantly increasing.

Spurred on by an Eight-minded public, Studebaker set out two years ago to build a high-quality Eight that could be sold at moderate six-cylinder cost.

Studebaker today leads the world in the manufacture of Eights—Eights that are champions—holders of 11 world records for speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other makes combined—Eights which are remarkably economical—smooth, flexible, brilliant.

Before investing in your new car, drive a smart new Studebaker Eight—President, Commander or Dictator. Bear in mind that Studebaker's 77 years of manufacturing integrity stand back of every one of these cars. And remember, too, that your new car will be worth more a year from now—if it's an Eight!

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"— LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan,
"It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

DEPOSITS LEAVING THE STATE

The plan of the First Wisconsin National bank and buy up the stock of a great many banks in the state, while apparently succeeding in its purpose, is drawing considerable fire and much discussion, many newspaper articles opposing it.

Back of this opposition are honest reasons. Money represents power and influence, not corrupt or improper but having to do with the rights of individuals and companies, and their necessities at times for financial aid. From the very start of our government this fact has been well recognized with the purpose or at least the hope of keeping that influence somewhat divided. We all know that if divided too much into too many small units we get institutions with not enough strength to serve the purposes of a community or indeed to stand on their own legs, and we all fear that if centralized into too few hands the power thus created may be misused. Above this reason rises the fear that if the control of local banks is given over, the just rights and ambitions of the community will not receive the same sympathetic treatment as at local hands.

Yet the people must meet conditions as they arise, and they are constantly changing. Those who stand back of the present project in Wisconsin assert that their plan is a defensive one aimed at encroachments that have been made in the Wisconsin territory. The facts support their claim in this wise: the First-Wisconsin National bank of Milwaukee is the largest bank in the state. It carries the accounts of about eighty per cent of the other banks in the state who deposit with it a substantial share of the amounts of cash they carry on hand, thus complying as they do with the law and rules of safety to carry about twenty per cent of their deposits in cash and at the same time receiving from the First Wisconsin some interest upon these deposits.

This entire deposit from the banks in Wisconsin at the First Wisconsin runs something around $30,000,000. It is important that these deposits be kept in Wisconsin because they eventually find use in the state, to the convenience and prosperity of its people. Some months ago outside bank holding companies commenced buying up Wisconsin banks. They first bought one of the strong banks at LaCrosse, then they went into the northern peninsula of Michigan which, because it cannot advantageously get into Detroit, becomes territory tributary to Milwaukee. The large deposits of cash which the purchased banks had with the First Wisconsin National were thereupon withdrawn and deposited in Minneapolis banks. Thus these funds go to the benefit of Minnesota and not Wisconsin concerns. Other bank stock holding companies have been formed in other states besides Minnesota looking with rather covetous eyes at Wisconsin banks.

We believe it would be better to stop this concentration of the banking business. Certainly congress for the national banks and the legislatures for the state banks could pass appropriate legislation for that purpose. But the legislation must be general and cover the entire country alike, for so long as foreign corporations can come into this state and buy the banks as they can by merely buying the stock from the various stockholders and so long as they are actually doing so, it would be better to have a Wisconsin bank stockholding company control the Wisconsin banks for this would at least hold Wisconsin funds for Wisconsin people and Wisconsin purposes. There was plenty of evidence on every side to justify the First Wisconsin in taking some step to protect its own interests, its own deposits, and to stop these millions from going elsewhere. We rather think that had it not done so, the people who criticize it for its present plan would be the first, after Wisconsin was drained of its surplus cash for the benefit of other states, to criticize it for not protecting the people from such a catastrophe.

CENSORSHIP AND MORALS

The chief trouble with censorship is that it so often works backwards. For some reason it seems impossible to enforce a censorship without doing things that are just naturally ridiculous. Some months ago the papers were full of the case of a New York grand-mother who was convicted in federal court of sending obscene literature through the mails. She had written a sex education pamphlet and had mailed it to various people. One of these people appointed himself a censor and had her arrested. Her appeal from her jail sentence is now pending.

More recently the play "Strange Interlude" came to Boston. A number of Bostonians felt that the play was too improper to be allowed on the boards of any theater. One man felt so deeply about it that he got a copy of the play and went through it looking for passages that were over-strong for the public morals. Having found a number of passages that seemed to him to be off color, he copied them, and mailed these copies to all the clergymen in the city, asking them to read them and denounce the play.

Now here is a funny thing about these two cases. The New York woman mailed out literature that she believed to be perfectly proper and decent. Some easily-shocked recipient of her wares had her arrested and the courts ruled that she must go to jail—despite the fact that she did what she had done in the belief that the material was eminently moral and wholesome. The Boston man mailed out literature that he believed to be indecent. Indeed, he was so sure that it was indecent that he felt that no play which contained such writing should be allowed to be presented. Yet, thus far, no one has taken any action against him.

In one case, in other words, a woman was arrested for mailing matter that she believed to be entirely innocent. In the other case a man mailed matter that he believed to be obscene—and he was not arrested. Those two cases don't jibe, somehow. They are only made more puzzling by the fact that each of these people was working in the interest of good morals. Neither had any improper motive. Yet it would seem to any casual observer that if the woman violated the law, the man certainly did.

Censorship is like that. There isn't much rhyme or reason in the way it works. Which, of course, is the greatest of all arguments against censorship.

"SETTLERS" IN FRANCE

France, according to a writer in the New York World, has become one of the principal immigration centers in the world, probably the only one in Europe. The Americas are the others. Into France of late have been going large numbers of Poles, Italians, Bohemians, Spaniards and Algerians. Thus, in spite of a declining birthrate, France is gaining in population. She is also taking on some melting pot problems which this country has already struggled with. Before long the French may be studying our quota system and our Americanization methods.

L'illustration, one of the leading French magazines, has conducted over something like a year's period of time a critical investigation of France's population problem. This inquiry has revealed some strange situations as well as numerous facts to give the native Frenchman concern. In some of the most prosperous and fertile regions rural France have been almost entirely displaced by Italians.

It is doubtful if the exact reasons for France's declining birth rate and depopulation of many important sections can be accurately explained. Certainly there is no one or two outstanding causes. One of the causes in the background is held to be the fact that there is no distinctly French race. The republic is a polyglot mixture of many races, some of which have been preserved practically intact. While politically there is a strong nationalist spirit, there does not exist a racial unity and therefore a powerful nationalism socially. A greater intermingling among the provinces and cities generations ago would no doubt have been beneficial and stimulating, and resulting intermarriages doubtless would have increased the birth rate and helped to create a more definite ethnic homogeneity.

The Arctic tern is the world's champion migrant. It nests as far north as land has been discovered and has been found skirting the edge of the Antarctic continent.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSECK

New York—Here is a Lipton story that Sir Thomas himself doesn't know. The other afternoon two women were walking on Fifth avenue when one of them chanced to see a familiar face in a motor car, although she never had met the face before, except in the public prints.

Just as she remarked to her companion, "There's Sir Thomas Lipton," the tea merchant, for he it was, evidently read the woman's lips. At any rate, as though he recognized her, he lifted the yachtman cap he always wears and bowed.

Another pedestrian also had recognized the car occupant and observed the curiously feature. "Isn't that Sir Thomas Lipton?" he asked.

"Yes," said the woman, with an air. KNIGHTLY SERVANT Sir Thomas, despite his knightly title, is a democratic person. On his yearly trips to America he usually visits the New York Athletic club. Last year he exhibited a 52-cent piece at the club and told how he received it.

On the ship coming over from England, someone not so avid a scanner of the picture pages as the woman of the foregoing story, mistook the wealthy yachtman for a steward and requested him to perform some trivial service. Amused, Sir Thomas obliged and when the fellow passenger handed him a quarter tip he solemnly accepted the coin with thanks.

HORSE LOVERS Two of America's foremost trainers of race horses have died within a month. They were James Rowe, sr., overlord of the Harry Payne Whitney stables, and Sam Hildreth, who ran the Rancocas stables for Harry Sinclair.

Both were horsemen of the old school, whose love for fleet animals grew into their blood from childhood. Yet they were different characters in some respects.

Rowe never bet on a horse in the more than 70 years he lived, while Hildreth, who was 68 when he died, was known as a heavy plunger and gave up wagering only within the last four years.

Trainers are a quiet lot and Hildreth was perhaps the most taciturn of all. He never gave racing tips and seldom admitted his own horses were more than "fair." It was thus that he characterized Zetis in 1923, when that mount earned $272,000, a high season's record.

Both Rowe and Hildreth were former jockeys, as are many trainers. However, the Whitney stables now are in the hands of Rowe's 34-year-old son, James, jr., a Princeton graduate, who intended to practice engineering before he decided to learn his father's occupation for the sake of his health, which made outdoor employment almost a necessity.

ARCHITECTURAL CHANGE. Gradually the high stoops once typical of city homes are passing. As modern brick apartment floors replace the brown-stone blocks, ground floors are either divided into residential cubicles or given over to business instead of being basements.

The old stoops derived from a Netherlands idea of having the main entrance on the second floor, leading into the best rooms, which were set high so as to be dry when the ground might be damp. The island now being coated with concrete, and private houses out of vogue, street level entrances are the rule.

Today's Anniversary

TWO-CENT POSTAGE

Climaxing a century of postal progress, the rates on letters were reduced to 2 cents in the United States on Oct. 10, 1893.

The first federal law on postage in the United States was passed in 1792 and set the rate at 6, 8, 10, 15, 17, 20, 22 and 25 cents for distances of 6, 8, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100, 120, 150, 200, 250 or 400 miles respectively, for single letters. The law defined a single letter as a single sheet or piece of paper.

The earliest letters consisted of single sheets of paper folded and addressed upon the sheet. An envelope would have subjected them to double postage.

Postal stamps were first issued at New York in 1847; stamped envelopes were first issued in 1853; letters were first registered in 1855; free city delivery was established in 1853, and money orders were first issued in 1860.

Two years after the 2-cent letter postage went into effect, the postoffice department inaugurated the special delivery system, and the rural delivery first began in 1896.

DOES WORRY MAKE YOU ILL OR ILLNESS MAKE YOU WORRY?

Speaking of the most morbid type of constipation, a leading medical authority whom it may be as well not to name says:

"The patient may be inclined to attribute his nervousness to constipation, and in all probability constipation is frequently the cause of a psychoneurosis; but I am of the opinion that a nervous instability is always a precursor of this trouble."

There's a subject for debate, almost as prolific as the chicken or egg controversy. Do you get fussed up over the matter of bowel function and so disarrange the function; or is your scheme of life not based on the action of the bowels?

Do you know, dear gallible introspective reader, I have walked the floor for hours over this. I have thought and thought about it, trying to make up my mind whether these talks (I am giving a series on the subject) would do more good than harm. The decision hung not on any question of the wholesome effect of what I have to teach about this, but on the question of holding readers' interest and attention long enough to make sure readers will get the whole story. I finally concluded that even if some readers get only part of it, they will be no worse off than before; and from my observation of confirmed victims of the constipation habit, especially those with the most morbid kind of constipation, I am confident they will follow through, once they get an inkling of the subject under consideration.

"Nervousness" cause constipation, or constipation "nervousness"? I refuse to enter that debate, because to my mind there is nothing debatable in the question. There is no such condition, malady or state as "nervousness." Oh, well, let's not be captious about it. You know I hold that "nervousness" is just a polite term for selfishness, deceit, evasion of responsibility or duty, and so on, or a mixture of all these, and a wrong habit of thought, or something like that. If you ask whether wrong thinking can cause constipation, I say it can and commonly does. If you ask whether constipation can cause wrong habit of mind, then I say: No, not unless you are very ignorant of human physiology.

Now, then, we have arrived at a point where I must pause, for the average layman, especially the layman of fair intelligence as intelligence is ordinarily rated, is sadly misinformed about body functions, knows so many things "which ain't so," and is therefore a pretty easy victim for the wiles of the quacks and if you will accept that term "quacks" in its proper sense you must admit that never before in the history of civilization has the world been so overrun with quacks as it is today. Easily there are 10 quacks, and thriving ones too, for every honest, reputable healer. I'd like to have a wager on this—I'm willing to bet that 9 out of 10 readers of this line are at present or have been recently, good paying patrons of one or another kind of quackery. The most dangerous things about ignorance is that the ignorant one may fail to realize how helpless his ignorance makes him in the hands of those who would exploit his ignorance. This is particularly true of the health ignorant class of intellectuals, for they complacently imagine they are competent to judge about such matters, and accordingly they make the softest marks for the quacks of our day.

Another medical authority, speaking of the same subject, says: "These patients seek help, not because of the colitis but for (various symptoms) lack of physical energy, a falling off in business efficiency, mental depression or complete nervous breakdown."

There, I think, the doctor passes the buck to the patient.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Streaked With Grey Please let me hear from you regarding the Iron and Tea Club method of dealing with streaked grey hair. (Mrs. H. L. E.)

Answer—Yes, if you'll inclose with your request a stamped envelope bearing your address. His Best Friend Never Told Him I want to tell you that your advice for the treatment of sweaty feet is little short of miraculous in effect. Not only the clammy feeling, but all odor has gone. The cure is as absolutely certain as anything I can conceive. All along I had imagined that wool socks were out of the question. (W. N. J.)

Answer—And yet, we never guarantee our treatment. Thank you for reporting.

Help Yourself to Rolls Please send me your pamphlet on somersaults and rolling. (Mrs. R. A.) Answer—Madam, I do not distribute pamphlets. On your request I am glad to mail you the By-Laws of the Somersaulters. You are privileged to help yourself to the rolls of your wish. I am not prescribing them for you.

Arteriosclerosis I have hardening of the arteries; and I will be grateful to you if you will give a diet that will help me. One Dr. told me not to eat salt in my food. (Miss F. M.)

Answer—And if I could give you a diet I'd be happy to do so. The truth is that no doctor can surmise what food you should take or avoid, without a personal study of your condition. It is difficult to make people understand that a physician can no more determine by long distance what food a person should eat or not eat, than he can decide what medicine the victim should take or avoid, or what operation or other treatment. Every one past 50 has more or less hardening of the arteries. What of it? You can't live 50 years and still be a youth. If the doctor says your arteries are hardening, I'll go glad to mail you some general information and advice about C. V. D. (heart-artery wear and tear). But I do not send such information unless the reader mentions that his or her physician has diagnosed hardening of the arteries or heart muscle tire, or whatever it may be. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—There's an atmosphere in the capital city of the United States at this season of the year that reminds one of the old home town—more so than at any other time.

And it is because of the trees. It is in autumn that their presence is felt the most. There is scarcely a main street in all Washington that is not more beautiful now on account of them.

Take Pennsylvania avenue—the city's principal thoroughfare stretching from the White House to the capitol. It is lined with beautiful, wide branching trees with leaves of varied hue. And Massachusetts avenue, where Secretary Mellon lives; New Hampshire avenue, another exclusive residential section—all are a veritable bower of loveliness in the fall.

Washington boasts of the fact that it has the greatest variety of trees of any large city in the world. And it numbers them among its most prized possessions.

A PLANTING RITE In fact, there has grown up through the years what aptly might be called the solemn rite of tree planting. It has even become a part of the unofficial duties of the president. Cleveland was the only president who didn't plant a tree at some time while he was in office. He didn't because he "could see no sense about planting a tree for the name of the thing."

But his administration was not allowed to go tree-less. For his young bride one morning took hold of a spade, went out on the White House lawn, and with her own hands planted a blood-leaf maple that may now be seen.

The White House lawn is fairly studied with trees planted by presidents through the years as well as others with interesting histories.

There is the American elm, planted by Rutherford B. Hayes in March 1878. The sweet gum planted by Harrison in April of 1892 is there. The scarlet oak put on the lawn by McKinley in 1898 is one of the most beautiful of all.

On the lawn near the west terrace of the White House stands a young American oak with almost curious history.

When Charles Sumner was representing Massachusetts in the United States senate he paid a visit to Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon. He was particularly impressed with the American oak that overshadowed the tomb, and while there filled a pocket with acorns from the tree.

Back in Washington, he put the acorns in a package and sent them to MAJESTY, Russia. He heard nothing more about them.

During Roosevelt's administration Frank Harris Hitchcock was sent to Russia as this country's ambassador. Some one told him of the incident, and for curiosity he set out to find what became of the acorns.

His quest led him to Czarina Island just outside Petersburg, near the palace of the then Imperial Majesty. There he found a great American oak tree with a tablet at its foot which read:

THE ACORN PLANTED HERE WAS TAKEN FROM AN OAK WHICH SHADES THE TOMB OF THE CELEBRATED AND NEVER-TO-BE-FORGOTTEN WASHINGTON; IS PRESENTED TO HIS IMPERIAL MAJESTY, THE EMPEROR OF ALL THE RUSSIAS, AS THE SIGN OF THE GREATEST RESPECT BY AN AMERICAN.

Hitchcock was overjoyed at his find. He gathered some acorns and sent them to President Roosevelt along with a history of the affair. Roosevelt planted the tree on the White House lawn. It now stands, officially designated the "Hitchcock-Roosevelt-American Oak."

AIN'T HE RIGHT? MRS. TAPP. I've noticed that the farmers always have a man for a scarecrow.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—No doubt about it, O. P. Heggie likes character acting. The first part he ever essayed in a movie, and it was a silent one, was that of Sir William Gower in "The Actress," with Norma Shearer, in the film version of "Trelawney of the Wells."

Sir William, you may remember, was no young nobleman with sex appeal and good looks. He was an old codger of 75 years or so, and Heggie, himself a young man, liked the role.

But being a stage actor the silence of the screen then had little appeal for him, and he returned to the footlights which easily had claimed him, a rather unwilling law student, in 1900.

Once in his stage career Heggie played in a musical revue, the first American production of the kind presented in London. He was a success, but he preferred dramatic acting.

Now in a Hollywood gone complete musical, where he might capitalize on that early experience he still clings to character portrayals, believing that the talkies offer greater opportunity to the character actor than ever before, and that as a result the one-time predominance of sexy themes in pictures will be overcome. He has just completed the old-maid of the French king in "The Vagabond King."

SYNTHETIC STARDOM Movie stars need not be too proud of their charms. Here is Percy Westmore, studio make-up artist, declaring that he can produce a "double" for any woman star in the business, under certain conditions.

Out of a group of 25 chorus girls, he says, he can select one who, provided she has the proper height, figure, and hair coloring, can be made up to photograph exactly like any given star.

But of course he cannot give the "double" a microphone voice nor screen personality, so what good will it all do, anyway?

JUST COME "AS IS" Hollywood is nothing if not informal when it chooses to be. A certain large party one evening recently had guests attired in practically every sort of costume except pajamas.

Several men in swallowtails escorted ladies in evening gowns, and others in tuxedos accompanied girls clad as though for a formal ball. The majority of the swains, however, wore business suits, and there were a few in knickerbockers and sweaters, several who forgot their coats entirely and wore no sweaters, either—and one photographer who not only forgot his coat but wore a short-sleeved shirt.

And that independent soul, be it recorded, had more fun probably than anybody else there.

If you can't afford to pay more than $25 for a suit you certainly can't afford to pay less.

The closer a man has to watch his expenditures, the farther he should locate his purchase away from cheap clothing.

If so many other items are issuing a demand on your capital that you cannot pay more than $22.50 for a suit—better wait—for the garment at this cost not only squanders its price—but drags your pride along in the bargain.

Fine suits—safe suits—suits that a man like you can afford and can't afford to go without are here in gorgeous selections at—

CITY HALL CUPOLA PROVES GIANT TORCH FOR MILWAUKEEANS

Firemen Unable to Battle Flames High in Air—Loss is $50,000

Milwaukee.—(P)—Like a gigantic torch standing out against a dark sky, the cupola of Milwaukee's city hall, 400 feet above the street, burned to its steel framework last night while firemen watched helplessly. The flames, spurred by a keen wind, quickly covered the cupola and cast a lurid glow over the thousands of persons who thronged the downtown streets.

More than $50,000 damage was done by the fire which was too high to be reached by hose lines. While the top portion of the huge tower burned, showering embers to Water and Wells-sts., the clock in a frame of fire, kept running, giving the exact time.

Defective wiring was blamed for the fire. While it raged a large electric sign on the lower portion of the tower flashed this message to convention delegates: "Welcome, Electrical Inspectors."

The flames were discovered by a policeman several blocks away. He telephoned the fire department offices, on the lower floor of the city hall, where operators were oblivious of the conflagration above their heads.

Knowing that the stone and steel base of the burning cupola would check the fire's progress, firemen devoted their efforts to wetting roofs of nearby buildings. Their hose lines fell far short of their mark and the water came down to the crowd in a fine mist.

At 9 o'clock p. m., only a last lingering spark remained to mark the city's most spectacular conflagration. Earlier, huge pieces of burning wood crashed to the streets, landing with a sound like bursting bombs. As the copper roof of the cupola on the picturesque building was caught by the flames it went up in a queer bluish color while sparks showered down through the open spaces below the big clock.

Crowds lined the streets for blocks around while residents of the west side of the city used their hilltop vantage point to watch. Virtually all fire-fighting equipment was called out.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN MAN PAYS INCOME TAX
Madison.—(P)—The state treasury department has received $11 in currency from an apparently conscience-stricken income tax payer, who didn't pay. The paper wrapped around the money was "rubber-stamped" for income tax. Such conscience money is turned over to the state school fund.

OFFER $500 REWARD FOR RETURN OF MISSING BOY

Ouray, Colo.—(P)—A reward of $500 has been offered by Ouray-co commissioners for the recovery of Alfred Hotchkiss, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hotchkiss, near Ridgeway, who disappeared Oct. 1. The reward offer followed several days of intensive search for the child, the searchers at times numbering several hundred. A suggestion that the child was carried off by a mountain lion is scouted by the father and others, as no trace of such an animal was found in the vicinity of the Hotchkiss home.

PAUL BUNYAN HAS RIVAL IN COWBOY

Pecos Bill Owned Cattle Numbering Millions, Director Writes

Madison.—(P)—Paul Bunyan, legendary hero of the lumberlands, has been forced to give way to his cousin, Pecos Bill, prince of the Wild West.

Bunyan of Wisconsin's lumber legends was the sort of man who owned timber plots that it took days to traverse, fed so many men that it took teams of horses to pull grid-die-greaser for pancakes, and did equally astounding feats.

Now Charles E. Brown, director of the Wisconsin Historical museum here, who recently wrote the Bunyan stories, has brought out the lore of Pecos Bill in a pamphlet entitled "Cowboy Tales."

Pecos Bill, Mr. Brown writes, had cattle that numbered millions and his brand was on nearly every mustang in the state of Texas.

The new pamphlet deals with Bill's cowponies, Bonebraker and Widow-maker; his career as a buffalo hunter, cattleman and Indian fighter.

Besides, there are stories of Mushmouth, the ranch musician, whose harmonica tunes stirred coyotes to chorus with the doleful chords. There is Bullfrog Doyle, who taught tenderfeet how to dance.

Other of Pecos Bill's helpers were Beanhole Brown, the cook, and Knockdown Buckner, whose favorite past time was knocking down settlers and Indians.

The tales of Pecos Bill, are told among ranchhands of the West. Mr. Brown says.

The museum director is completing his trilogy of tales that rival those of Baron Munchausen with "Wigwam Tales," stories of Indian tribes.

Superior.—(P)—The former mayor of Oliver, Wis., Gus Kervina, will have a hearing Oct. 15 on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to Olga Polka, Duluth. Judge F. S. Parker set the date yesterday. Kervina is at liberty under $5,000 bond. The alleged assault took place Aug. 25.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE wind kept tossing waves up high. It seemed they soon would reach the sky. The Wee-wee, in the wooden shoe, was bobbing here and there. It's just like hanging to a limb, thought he. I'll bet I'll take a swim. If only it were shallow here I really wouldn't care.

The shoes then tipped up on a wave. The Wee-wee loudly shouted, "Save me, please! I think I'm going to drop into this raging stream. Come on there, Scouty, lend a hand. So Scouty swam to beat the band. The other Tynites, back on shore, could hear the Wee-wee scream.

"Oh, listen to the wild waves roar," said Clowny. "I'm glad we're on shore. I think that Scouty was real brave to trail that wooden shoe. But now perhaps he's in a mess. I'd like to help him. I'll confess, but I have thought and thought and there is nothing I can do.

"I only wish we had a boat that we could take right out and float. I'd gladly do the rowing till we reached brave Scouty's side. But there is not a thing on hand, so all that we can do is stand and wait to see what happens, on the stream that's long and wide.

"Then Copy cried, with all his might, "Hey, Scouty boy, are you all right?" A real faint "yes" came floating back. The Tynites were relieved. "He'll come out fine," one of them said, "cause he knows how to use his head. If anything should happen, though, my, how we would be grieved."

Another wave then caught the shoe. The next thing that small Scouty knew the Wee-wee sailed into the air. The shoe turned round and round. "Course Scouty swam up mighty quick. 'Don't fret,' he cried. 'This will be slick. I'll grab you by your little hand and have you safe and sound."

(Scouty rescues the Wee-wee in the next story.)

A charming dress for business woman, college or high school miss or for general daytime occasions, is illustrated in Style No. 2962.

Navy blue canton crepe is medium chosen for this swagger dress of tailored sports character that is so suggestive of smart Princess silhouette.

The softly tied collar is interesting detail. It is flattering beige shade repeated in buttons down front closing and in belt that shows slightly raised waistline.

The circular inset godets at each side, create a lovely fluttering movement to hem, and form a front and back panel effect which gives the figure length, so important in the mode.

The sleeves are fitted with darts below elbows and trimmed with buttons.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It can be copied exactly with 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 5-8 yard of 35-inch contrasting in the medium size.

Later for early fall, it will make up most attractively in feather weight woolen in mauve-tinted tweed, purple wool crepe, or one of those enchantingly lovely printed jerseys.

Printed silk crepe in tweed pattern with the godets, collars and belt of plain harmonizing silk crepe in soft brown tones is fetching.

Bottle green wool jersey, black crepe satin with godets cut of the dull surface with white silk crepe collar and tie, and wine red canton crepe with beige silk crepe are ideal selections.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department, The New Fall and Winter Fashion Magazine is 15 cents but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

CHAPTER 43

YOU'LL laugh. Everybody does. Harry avoided her question. "But you seem different. I wanted to write plays." "Then why don't you?" Sue leaned forward eagerly. "I think it would have been lovely! You could have starred in a garret down in Greenwich Village, in New York City and some day your name would have sparkled clear across Broadway. Why don't you do it? Only of course you wouldn't have to starve—much."

"That's the whole thing! When there's money in the family you have to stick around to pretend you're bringing it in. If I had been poor I could have gone. I have to act like a clown so people will like me for myself and not just for the money."

"But you are one of Jack's best friends!"

"Sure. Jack's the best old egg going. But with the rest of them, I keep wondering what they'd do if I couldn't foot the bills. When I was a kid I tried to play with the gang who lived in the small houses down in the alley and I left my toys at home so they'd think I was a regular kid—but they sent me back for them. Most people are trying to get what they can from others." His usually merry voice was steady and grave.

Vally Beau and his eight piece band of Fond du Lac will play the dance program. The same committee is in charge.

After some discussion it was decided to hold a special meeting next Thursday night for final action on the petition to be built to the club. Notices of the meeting will be sent to all members.

Dart ball was played after the meeting. George Coon, chairman of the dartball committee, reported that the league will start on Oct. 21.

Sow Early Spinach This Fall, Expert Advises

There is not a great deal to be done in the vegetable garden in the way of fall planting with the exception of asparagus and rhubarb for permanent plantings. The bulk of the work is cleaning up, possibly spading, and leaving the soil in the best condition to go to work in the spring. One vegetable, however, may be sown this fall, late, with excellent results and this is spinach. Sow the seed in rows and give it a mulch of straw, hay or leaves to prevent it being washed by the heavy fall rains and the spinach patch for next spring is started. Spinach is an early season crop and must be grown in the cool days of spring in the home garden. With the first warm weather it spins up to seed in a hurry, even the best of the newer types which do not show as much seedling speed as the old varieties.

The old-fashioned small leaved spinach when the new heavy, crinkled leaved varieties are so much finer and give so much better yield per plant. Danish gardening experts have done wonders in developing spinach into heavy leaved, heat resisting sorts which are vastly superior and much more economical to grow. Spinach becomes one of the most popular market crops and we can now start in the fall with a fresh spinach from the market and have it all winter until the fresh supply in our own gardens is ready.

The one requisite for growing good spinach is rich soil, moisture and cool weather. Fertilize the spinach bed liberally with stable manure if it can be procured and if not with commercial fertilizer. Do not sow the seed too thick. Good gardeners now know that there is more waste in planting spinach so thick that the plants can't possibly develop good leaves than there is produce. Be prepared to thin it out to two inches apart and then watch the leaves develop. With the heavier leaved kinds, the crop can be prolonged by cutting the leaves and leaving the plant to produce more. Usually it is the custom to pull up the entire plant so that it produces only a single crop. Sow spinach the last of October or early November so the seed will not germinate until spring. It will then be the first thing up in the garden and on its way before the soil has dried out sufficiently to be worked for spring planting.

RUMOR THREE BIG RADIO COMPANIES PLAN TO COMBINE

Atwater Kent, Majestic and Crosley Firms May Merge—Report

By ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press
Washington—A merger, involving three of the largest radio receiving set manufacturers—Atwater Kent, Majestic and Crosley—is rumored in Washington.

One of the ranking members of the senate told this writer yesterday that plans for a merger of these companies had been discussed with him by the executive of one of these companies. Just how far the negotiations have gone, or whether they have even reached beyond the stage of preliminary discussion this senator could not say.

Should such a fusion materialize it would make this single company all-powerful in the radio manufacturing field. This would still be true. In the opinion of authorities, even if General Motors ties up with the Radio Corporation of America in a joint manufacturing project.

Since the holding of the world's fair in New York a fortnight ago there have been many rumors and much speculation about consolidations in the industry. One of these already has materialized, with the announcement that the Kolster Radio Corporation, Earl Radio Corporation and the Freed-Eisemann radio corporation have joined forces in a financial combination, but not distributing their individual merchandising of sets.

In discussing with the senator the plan to merge, the official of the radio company is reported as having said that a new dominant company would be placed in the radio field. The senator agreed that it might be a good thing for them to pool their patent holdings and resources.

Atwater-Kent and Crosley for several years have been among the most successful of the set manufacturers. Majestic, owned by Grigsby-Grumov, surprised the radio world with its successful rise to top rank in sales within two years. At present these companies are numbered among the first few in annual turnover.

The advent of General Motors into the radio field is believed the cause of the sudden opening of negotiations among set manufacturers for fusions. Competition has become terrific in the industry, and with the powerful General Motors company in the field, aided and abetted by the Radio Corporation of America itself, the "little fellows" sense the pinch of stifling competition, while the larger companies have been roused into extraordinary activity.

BREAK INTO STORE, CAN'T GET OUT, SO THEY CALL POLICE

Chicago—(P)—The James boys, Frank, 19, and Earl, 15, have discovered that getting into a place to rob is only half of it. Getting out is the big thing.

The youths descended through the skylight of a Madison-st hardware store and collected several articles. When they were ready to leave they found all doors locked. It was impossible to go out by the skylight. Eventually they had to go to the front door and shout for police to let them out. An officer rushed up, let them out, and gave them a nice little ride to the police station.

RELATION OF WORLD LABOR IS STRESSED AT A. F. OF L. MEET

Propose to Realign Groups to Meet Conditions Caused by Modern Business

By CHESTER M. WRIGHT
(Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press)

Toronto — World labor relations have come to the fore in this convention of the American Federation of Labor with greater emphasis than has been seen since the war. It is explained on the ground that the international movement of capital and the emigration of American industries to Europe and elsewhere make necessary a new alignment and a new examination.

The principal proposal, sponsored by Matthew Woll, vice president, is for an entirely new relationship of American and European labor. It is proposed that the Pan American Federation of Labor be conceded sole authority in north, central and south America, while the international federation of trade unions occupies the old world, these two hemispheric federations to maintain a cooperative relationship.

Such a move would settle the long standing effort of the international federation of labor, known as the Amsterdam International, to bring the A. F. of L. into affiliation, an affiliation which the A. F. of L. has steadfastly declined on the ground that it would, among other things, mean a sacrifice of autonomy, or self control involving such matters as tariffs, immigration and political action. It would give Amsterdam the substance of what it has sought and safeguard what the Americans have contended for. Moreover, it would end the Amsterdam effort to prosecute in Latin American and would, it is thought, also end the proselyting efforts of the international labor organization of Geneva, the League of Nations, organizations which have been criticized in the United States.

BETTER FRONT
Mr. Woll believes such a realignment would result in a more effective front against efforts of the communist labor international of Moscow, which, it is charged here, has made strenuous attempts to invade the Latin nations.

Already the Woll proposal has been unofficially broached to European trade union leaders. It is known to find favor in England, France and Germany. President Citrine of the Amsterdam federation, one of the British trade unionists, has openly declared his friendship toward the proposal. The Germans through their official publication, have done likewise.

Adoption of the resolution here would mean that the project would be offered to Europe through the Pan American federation of labor at the January convention at Havana.

Another proposal growing in part out of the same circumstances is that the executive council of the A. F. of L. be authorized to consider an exchange of fraternal delegates with the German federation of trade unions. There never has been such a practice, though such an exchange with Great Britain is of long standing. Mr. Woll also sponsors this proposal. Both are believed to meet the approval of President William Green. Both, it is believed here, will strengthen the position of the American federation of labor in world affairs.

FORM CONFERENCE
In addition, the federation proposes restriction of Latin immigration to the United States on a basis of 2 per cent of the 1890 census.

Coincident with the report of the executive council favoring that step, it became known that the state federations of labor of six of the southwestern states, including Texas, have formed a conference for the purpose of promoting immigration restriction.

"This organization was formed early last spring," said Harry W. Fox, Wyoming delegate. "We shall keep at it until we succeed," said W. J. Moran of El Paso. "We find the Mexican leaders with us on the ground that they need their abler workmen at home. We will soon have ten states in our conference."

Added to these is another important international issue. The federation will have before it a resolution supporting the senate foreign relations committee in the move for an investigation of charges that "life, liberty and freedom of speech, press and assembly" are not safeguarded in Cuba. Officers of the federal tion and leaders of several international unions have long observed Cuban developments with a watchful eye.

...THE PRECISION INSTRUMENT

...as a matter of course

FOR THE PEOPLE who live agreeably ... who look for smartness and comfort in their motor-cars and take mechanical excellence for granted ... who sit under the deck awning of a yacht and let the captain worry about its navigation ... for those people in short who can ask for and get the best in life the new all-electric Screen Grid Eveready Radio is built.

What you want in a radio receiver is first of all an instrument whose reproduction of sound is so natural, so full-voiced, that you are transported to the 45-yard line ... to the fourth row of the parquet circle at the orchestra ... to the speaker's table at a banquet. You get such reception with the new Eveready Radio.

But since you take the best things in life for granted, you are looking for something more. You want a radio receiver which will be as fine an instrument five, yes even ten, years from now as the day it was placed in your music-room. You are not interested in novelty, new accoutrements, mystifying technical devices. You assume that what you buy is the best there is. You get such an instrument when you buy the new Eveready Radio.

This radio is built by a scientific organization. It is painstakingly built. It is built with precision. Like a fine automobile, like an excellent watch, the effort is "not how many, but how well." The most scholarly research has contributed to this instrument. And will continue to do so as time goes on. But the result is interpreted to you in terms of excellence of performance ... night after night ... year after year. And that, since you are a person of sense and taste, is what you are looking for.

The Eveready Radio is priced no higher than the ordinary "commercial" receivers on the market. See it. Your eye will show you at a glance the unusual dignity and beauty of the cabinets. Hear it ... and you will want no other, so clear, even on muggy nights, is the reception. See your nearest dealer at once.

SOCIETY WILL MARK HISTORICAL PLACES

Neenah—Directors of the Winnebago Archeological and Historical society are completing plans for marking historical buildings and sites in the county.

Negotiations are being made to permanently mark the site of the first white man's home at Oshkosh, that of Robert Stanley, erected in 1844, at the mouth of the Fox river on land now owned by the Wisconsin Power and Light company for its carbarns. The society also is to mark the Indian mounds in Menasha park, and will erect memorials at Neenah, Omro and Winnebago.

Neenah and Menasha are both situated on historical ground, the home and meeting places of several of the early tribes of Indians. The home of the first territorial governor, Gov. Doty, the old loggers' which is now located in Doty park as a museum for early day relics, is another relic. The first Indian school house, still standing on the lake shore.

The organization has urged that old settlers of the county tell of their early recollections so that data can be secured to assist in locating the historic spots.

GLOVES ARE BIG PART OF COSTUME

Latest Design Has Fur Cuffs Which Extend Almost to Elbows

BY AILEEN LAMONT

New York—Gloves from a vital part of one costume designed by J. S. Talbot of Paris. When the gloves are removed, a third of the costume is removed at the same time; for these gloves of antelope have fur cuffs, loose and wide as a musketeer's trousers, which extend almost to the elbow. If the Parisienne were a bootlegger—but of course she is not. The rest of the costume is of black cloth with wide belt, pleated skirt, and turn-back lapels of fur over the hips, but the gloves will be so fascinated by those holders that the rest of ensemble doesn't really matter.

Women are going to glitter this winter, and a first aid to glittering are the new necklaces of jet and brilliants. Strung on a slender chain which reaches to the base of the throat, the bits of jet are usually flat and oblong in shape while the brilliants are set one by one between the jet bars like solitary diamonds.

A small, gleaming necklace of this type related the fashionable effect sometimes achieved by gowns in the season's rich but dusky shades.

It looks as if the duldest days this season were going to be the brightest. You may think it's the sun breaking through the clouds, but in all likelihood it is a raincoat in one of the gay, defiant shades plus a new idea in umbrellas. This new idea makes the umbrella very short and very highly colored and gives it a handle simple in design but of transparent red, green, or blue.

Polish Falcon Athletic association will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the hall. The meeting will be followed by cards and a lunch.

Menasha—Menasha high school and St. Mary high school football teams will play away from home next Saturday and Sunday, the former going to New London Saturday and the latter to Little Chute, Sunday. The former team will also play at Two Rivers the following Saturday, but is scheduled for a game with East DePere on Butte des Morts field Menasha, Saturday, Oct. 26. St. Mary high school team will play a return game with St. Norbert college at Menasha on Sunday, Oct. 27.

Milwaukee—(P)—Despite the finding of Coroner Henry Grude-man that Louis J. Mueller III, vice president of the Mueller Furnace company, died of self-administered poison, authorities today pushed a further inquiry into the death of the man who was prominent in business and social circles here.

Captain of Detectives Harry McGraw assigned two operatives to the case. Mueller, 35, was found dead in his home here by his wife, Mrs. Olga Mueller, here yesterday.

Mrs. Mueller, it was learned, had filed a suit in circuit court for separate maintenance. Detectives were unable to question her since she is in seclusion at the home of some friend or relatives.

The case was first brought to the attention of the police when the Mueller family physician refused to issue a death certificate. Coroner Grude-man ordered an autopsy which indicated that Mueller had died from the effects of one of the most deadly poisons known.

Fond du Lac—(P)—A corps of chemists from the state board of health, directed by E. J. Tully, was here today to trace the source of the contamination which has been present in the city's water supply for more than a week. The fluorescein method of testing water pollution is being employed.

Because of the great increase of attendance at the Royal Horse Show in Dublin, Ireland, this year, the grounds are to be materially enlarged.

TAXABLE PROPERTY IN STATE IS WORTH ALMOST 6 BILLION

Madison—(AP)—The state tax commission finds all Wisconsin's general taxable property to be worth $5,975,952,415.

The property consists of $5,131,217,073 real estate, and $844,735,342 personal property—an increase of $123,998,537 in real estate over last year's total and a decrease of $25,448,779 in personal property, the latter due to removal of the local tax rolls and state assessment of property of public utilities. This amounted to $54,798,700 last year.

Counties from which will come a larger payment of state taxes than last year are Milwaukee, Kenosha, Racine, Rock, Winnebago, Waukesha, Walworth, Ozaukee, LaCrosse, Eau Claire, Clark, Jackson, Buffalo, Portage, and Ashland. Milwaukee county pays about 20 per cent. of the state taxes compared with 29 per cent. last year.

The state assessment is used in determining the amount of mill taxes to be raised for the support of the university and normal schools and for state aids to common schools. It is also used, in connection with the average state property valuation, to be applied to railroads and utilities next year.

The value of real estate decreased in towns of rural districts from $2,005,415,528 to $1,981,077,117, or $24,338,409, the taxation commission reported. It increased in villages from $292,575,928 to $312,565,946. Cities increased from $2,704,227,082 to $2,637,574,010, or more than $133,000,000.

The decrease in rural towns was greatest in the southern agricultural counties and in the northern cut-over counties, "due, primarily, to continued lowering in the value of farm land."

Cities continued to grow in value especially those in the southeastern sections. Cities and villages have increased in relative importance from four-ninths of the state total value in 1917 to over three-fifths in 1928.

PERSONAL PROPERTY LOWER

"Personal property was lower in amount than in any year since 1918 except 1922 and constituted a smaller fraction of the state assessment than in any year in the tax commission's history." This decline has been due partially to the exemption of bank stock from taxation in 1927 and to the changed method of taxing utilities this year, the tax officials said.

Despite the growth of cities, merchants' and manufacturers' stock is less than last year by two million dollars. Other classes of personal property showing decreases were horses, swine, wagons, leaf tobacco and locally assessed public utilities. The value of cattle, automobiles and unclassified personal property increased materially, while other classes showed small increases.

The tax commission's announcement of real and personal property valuation by counties follows, the first figure representing the percentage increase or decrease:

One year and two months ago, Sigl Brothers' Twenty Three Fifty Store for men opened in Appleton. "Experts" predicted that it would not succeed.

YET, in slightly better than one year, Sigl Brothers' volume of business has increased 100%!

WHY?

BECAUSE Sigl Brothers, in entering the moderate price field TOOK VALUE WITH THEM.

BECAUSE Sigl Brothers' clothing—all at $23.50 represents values which are duplicated only at higher prices.

BECAUSE Sigl Brothers' clothing and spirit of service have always satisfied.

Come in and learn for yourself.

BIG HURDLES IN PATH TOWARD DISARM PACT

touched a vulnerable spot when they offered to abolish undersea boats. It may mean that France and Italy will agree to the ratio set for them on battleships, cruisers and auxiliary vessels rather than take a position before all the world of blocking a naval accord.

Essentially the submarine is a destroyer of commerce and hence Great Britain and the United States are vitally concerned in its suppression, especially because these two great nations feel it probable that they will be neutral in any local conflicts that might arise between the other navies of the world in the future.

The limitation of replacement of battleships, which also is announced in the formal invitations as a subject for discussion, was no surprise, because with the development of the airplane and the submarine it is the fast vessel of cruising radius, like the scout cruiser and the fighting cruiser, which is to be the bulwark of powerful navies in the future. Neither Great Britain nor the United States will abandon battleships but to a certain extent they will agree not to expend money in their development of refinement but to keep in commission those already built. After all, if the most powerful navies agree to limit the amount of replacement and to maintain the old battleships, they will have a sufficient first line of defense for a fleet without calling on their people for extra appropriations.

EARLIER ATTEMPTS MADE

During the last naval conference the United States and Great Britain tried first to suppress the submarine and when they failed to accomplish it, they suggested rigid rules for submarine warfare. It is likely that the agitation for rules of this kind will be revived if the other naval powers decline to abolish the submarine.

By setting 1936 as the date when all naval categories shall find the British and American fleets on a parity basis there is ample time for the taking care of the inequalities which have been the basis of so much discussion on this side of the Atlantic. It is apparent now that the concession has made possible American agreement with the British program of cruiser building.

The biggest single difference between the situation that exists today with respect to the abolition of the submarine and the problem that confronted the 1922 Washington conference, is that the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaties have now been signed and ratified by the principal powers of the world. This means that since wars of aggression or for offense have been outlawed, it devolves upon any nation which wishes to use the submarine to prove that this weapon of warfare is essential for defense.

MAY MAKE CONCESSION

It remains to be seen whether the United States and Great Britain may even go to the point of suggesting that other nations build up their navies to a point approximating the American and British strength rather than to see the submarine continue to be used.

Meanwhile, Germany, disarmed by the Versailles treaty, looks on with a feeling of wonder that the other nations should have really pressed forward the movement to disarm themselves. Germany has been relieved of the burden of naval armaments and her economic development can proceed without regard to the tax burdens of either an army or a navy. France is not yet ready to concede, however, any more than is Italy, that all source of friction in Europe has been removed so that all her future disputes will necessarily be with Germany. Theoretically, the French wish to be protected against the British as well as the Italians. The Italians, on the other hand, wish to dominate the Mediterranean as against the French.

Russia is still an enigma. All the treaties of today are signed on the supposition that the external policy of Russia will not be materially changed in the future and that she will not build up either an army or a navy to threaten the peace of the world but just the same, the Kellogg treaties provide for such a contingency, in that all nations may recover liberty of action just as soon as there is a threat of aggression. It remains to be seen what provision will be made to care for the interests of those continental powers which are not yet ready to concede that the Kellogg-Briand treaties of themselves furnish an adequate protection against the whims of the soviet or even the Turks.

2 TRAFFIC OFFENDERS PAY FINES AND COSTS

Two motorists charged with violating city traffic ordinances were fined $1 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon when the pleaded guilty of charges against them. They were: Velma H. Newton, route 5, Appleton, charged with disregarding the signal lights at the corner of College-ave and Onondaga-st, and Richard Belling, 231 E. McKinley-st, charged with parking his car without lights. Belling was arrested by Officer Earl Thomas and Velma Newton by Sergeant Earl Vandenberg.

The supposition here is that France, Italy and Japan will accept the invitations to the naval parity in London but that their respective policies will not really be framed until Premier MacDonald calls the conference together in London.

Series Teams To Resume Play Friday In Philadelphia

MACKS HAPPY AS THEY RETURN HOME WITH 2 GAME LEAD

Hazard Guess Quinn Will Start in Next Game With Root His Opponent

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—With most of the pre-series dopes scrambled beyond repair, the Cubs and Athletics today moved from Chicago to Philadelphia to resume play tomorrow.

The enthusiasm of the American leaguers as they returned to their home and firehorns knew no bounds for they had done all that they could at Chicago, winning the only two games played. The Cubs on the other hand were a grim but determined ball club as they left home, not to return unless they can take two of the three games scheduled at Shibe Park.

Optimism, however, was rampant among the National league representatives even after the second straight defeat in a contest in which the Chicagoans never were in the game. A crowd of 49,987 had few chances to cheer.

Even the groundkeepers have tangible proof of their faith in the club. After the A's had dashed laughing from Wrigley field with a 9 to 3 rebuff of the Cubs in their bag, workmen took their places on the diamond and the playing surface in apple pie order for a baseball game that will not be played this season unless their beloved Cubs can execute a strong comeback.

The Cubs were forced to use four pitchers in the second game and every baseball indicator pointed to the renomination of Charlie Root as the Cubs' flinger to open the play in Philadelphia. Root, who stopped eight-ninths of the Athletics in the first game but threw a homer ball to Jimmy Foxx, will have three days rest when game time arrives tomorrow.

QUINN MAY START
Old Jack Quinn, the veteran of veterans, probably will get the call from Connie Mack although the tall tactician, as silent as he is tall, can summon any one of half a dozen pitchers to the mound. The veteran John Ebbetts was warmed up yesterday in spite of some of the coldest baseball weather on record. He can throw almost as slow as that of Ebbetts and has a "splitter" too.

The first two games of the series have been glorious triumphs for the bubbling A's, but disastrous defeats for the experts. Before play began the close observers declared that the Cubs would be almost unbearable in their own ball yard and would send in a lineup of seven regulars battling from the right side of the plate to slaughter left hand pitching.

The National league champions won no games at home to start the series and scored no runs against Lefty Bob Grove, as left-handed as any pitcher in the business. In the 4-13 innings of the first game when he went to the relief of Earnshaw. The big right-hander was shelled from the hill in the only decisive offensive gesture the Cubs were able to make in two days.

13 CUBS AGAIN FAN
Among the bitter reflections the Cubs took with them on their ride from west to east, was a strike out record of some kind. Ebbetts forced 13 Cubs to miss third strikes Tuesday and Wednesday, 13 more fanned, although this bit of destructive pitching was divided between Earnshaw and Grove. Earnshaw struck out seven in four and two-thirds innings and Grove bagged six victims in one-third of an inning less.

The chore of naming a world's series hero is not yet in order but when the final reckoning is made, Jimmy Foxx probably will be considered. The Marylander, for the second time in two days, sent the A's out in front with a homer, the second being more productive than the first in that two of his mates rode home with him.

Perce (Pat) Malone, strikeout king of the National league, started as though he might break the Ebbetts record established less than 24 hours before. He sent the first inning to the bench in the first inning, caught another napping in the second and added a fifth in the third. He left the scene in the fourth when the Macks had run their strike of runs to six.

Sheriff Blake, Hal Carlson and Art Neft followed in order but it made no difference by this time who was pitching, although George Earnshaw was forced to seek cover when a bombardment of five hits, good for three runs, was launched against him in the fifth. Grove left-handed his way through the rest of the game with a crackling fast ball which the Cubs could nick for only three hits, no two in one inning. Neft had the satisfaction of pitching in his fifth world series. He was a Giant in the others.

EARNSHAW, MALONE WILD
Earnshaw, like Malone, had a world of stuff but lacked control. He had to use all his skill to pitch himself out of a hole of his own making in the third when he filled the bases with passes.

The Cubs' war horse Rogers Hornsby slowed down to walk in the first game, was more potent in the second but he could not hit in the early innings when hits would have meant runs and changed the complexion of the game. The Rajah, the club's leading batter, had one single

FOXX, THE "BABE RUTH" OF 1929 SERIES

Jimmy Foxx, youthful first baseman of the Athletics, is causing baseball fans to forget that Babe Ruth is not in the world series this year. Foxx clouted his second home run of the series in the third inning of the second game, scoring Cochrane and Simmons ahead of him. His homer seemed to be the punch that broke down the Cubs' defense, for after that the Athletics proceeded to pile up nine runs. This NEA picture shows Foxx crossing the plate with Simmons, Cochrane and Bing Miller waiting to congratulate him.

Change In Rules Hasn't Slowed Up Grid Games

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1929)

CHICAGO (AP)—Even in this day of multiplied technicalities in football rules, teams that are well coached in fundamentals are able to keep a game moving in most fluid fashion—as was demonstrated in the Nebraska-Southern Methodist game at Lincoln.

Nebraska was offside but once throughout the game and Methodist once. There were no penalties for holding, for running into the kicker, for tripping or clipping. In other words Dana Bible of Nebraska and Ray Morrison of Methodist had coached their team to play honest.

IOWA LOSES 2 MEN ON "PRO" CHARGES

Big Ten Teams Make Ready to Invade Foreign Fields Saturday

Chicago (AP)—One more day of practice on their own fields today remained for four big teams which will go abroad to do their share in opening the championships season Saturday.

Iowa, will leave tonight for Columbus, O., for their battle with Ohio State, assured that Captain Willis Glasgow will be in shape to get into action, but minus two substitutes, Matt Keish, an end and John Fuhman, guard. The latter were declared ineligible last night following charges that they had played semi-professional football.

Coach Harry Kipke, his assistants and 38 members of the Michigan squad, will head for La Fayette, Ind., tonight, to meet Purdue in what shapes up as one of the big attractions of the midwestern card for Saturday.

Northwestern will leave for Madison after taking their final drill today, with hopes of causing a major upset by defeating Wisconsin. Coach Dick Hanley has named 31 men for the journey. Indiana will invade Chicago, confident of defeating the Maroons in the fourth game on the conference program.

Minnesota will receive its first serious test when Vanderbilt goes to Minneapolis Saturday, while Illinois will meet another easy one in Bradley Tech.

but he twice struck out in the ninth. Hack Wilson, held hitless by Ebbetts, had a perfect day at bat with "three for three". The player who is nearly as broad as he is long, however, was passed twice with men on bases.

The Cubs gained considerable satisfaction as they traveled today thinking of Bill Dinnene, an umpire in the series. Bill won three games for the Boston Red Sox in 1905. The Cubs are not particularly interested in the past performances of pitcher Dinnene but the history of that early series gives them hope. In that day the series went to five game decision and Pittsburgh won three of the first four games. Boston came back to win four straight and the series.

The Cubs reason: "If a team like the Boston Red Sox could do such a thing 2 years ago, we ought to be able to win two, three, or even four hand running now. As they look at the poorly Bill, they seem to be thinking, 'and with that old guy pitching.' The younger Cubs may have to be reminded that Dinnene, pitcher, and Dinnene, the umpire, are two entirely different personalities, and that the Red Sox today are not the Red Sox of yesterday.

The Athletics ponder in a different vein as they move homeward. Say they "the Yankees won four straight from two national league clubs in two straight years. We beat the Yankees so why can't we do half of it in one year."

The A's are in the better position. They have won half of their world series quota, while the Cubs have not yet started.

football. And the result was most satisfactory to the spectators.

Mason, the brilliant Dalls back, did, however, pull one nifty. With fourth down on the thirty yard line he wanted a touchback. So instead of taking the risk of punting over the goal line, he threw the ball over. Instantly Capt. Ebbetts of Nebraska brought up the point of a deliberately grounded forward pass, calling for a penalty. And a very good point it was. But since the penalty was not allowed it is likely that the thrower convinced the referee he expected someone to catch the ball.

Of all wild and weird innovations, that in which the referee is called upon to make signals showing what various penalties are for is eligible for a prize. In the first place none of the parties who broadcast the referee's signals throughout the country had signals that agreed in every respect and as a consequence they are of little value. Dr. Eddie O'Brien one of the ablest referees in the country, made no attempt to use them in the West Point-Boston University game and referee Cochrane was similarly indifferent at Lincoln. Once, for example, when Nebraska was penalized fifteen yards—probably for a sub talking before reporting—the referee was scratching his head, the umpire was adjusting a shoe lace and the field judge was slapping at a fly or a mosquito.

NAVY, NOTRE DAME GAME TOPS EASTERN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Yale to Invade Georgia and Nebraska Meets Syracuse University

NEW YORK (AP)—The season not heavy scheduled for eastern college football begins in earnest Saturday.

Pittsburgh has a good chance to avenge last year's 9-6 defeat by West Virginia.

Fordham's prospects of victory over New York university are not so bright. N. Y. U. has lost several leading lights of last year's victorious team but plenty of strength remains.

The Nebraska-Syracuse battle promises to be one of the most exciting of the week's intercollegiate clashes. Their past-six battles have brought three victories apiece.

Yale jumps from the first game right into the middle of a hard season with its pilgrimage to Georgia. After returning, the Elis must meet Brown, Army and Dartmouth in succession with Maryland as the only possible rest before tackling Princeton and Harvard. Princeton tackles Brown for the first time in a quarter of a century, then goes on to meet Cornell, Navy and Chicago.

Harvard has a comparatively easy opponent in New Hampshire before moving into a schedule as hard as any of them.

Navy has the rather doubtful honor of entertaining Notre Dame in the leading intercollegiate game of the week, but the midshipmen have a few comparatively soft spots on their card. Army continues its run against Davidson but goes from there into one of the longest and toughest schedules of them all.

Columbia, Dartmouth, Lafayette, Carnegie Tech and Penn State remain in the early game stage with opponents which should give them little trouble.

Colgate may have a battle on its hands with Michigan State. Bucknell and Washington and Jefferson fought to a scoreless draw in 1928 and again are rated on about even terms.

On a strictly eastern basis, the least certain game is that between two of last year's undefeated teams, Boston College and Villanova, which are still going strong this season.

SHEBOYGAN PREPS FOR THIRD GAME OF STATE TITLE SERIES

Beyermen Expect to Get Back in Form for Championship Battle

Sheboygan—Hoping for a sudden return of the plate power which was so conspicuous by its absence Sunday, Paul Beyers' Chairmaker contingent will do away with all manner of skull-duggery and put all thoughts of unbroken victory strings far from them to tackle the Menasha Twins in the third and deciding struggle for the semi-professional championship of Wisconsin here Sunday.

The penchant for rapping out timely base swats, a characteristic of the youthful Chairs during their conquest of the State league, was entirely lacking in the second game of the series as Fred Nixon wove a magic spell over them with his special spellbinding leaving apparatus to the disconsolate tune of 2 to 0. But now that the tension that always attends a team in the throes of a long winning streak has been relieved the Beyermen expect to bare their teeth at the invaders, like so many ill tempered bulldogs and paddle the ball around with a hearty good will as in the halcyon days of State league strife. There were times in the last game with the Valley champions that the Sheboygan batsmen threatened to come in to their own but always Nixon rose to the emergency and squelched the uprising with Chairmakers on the runways.

MEAN BUSINESS

The Chairmakers Sunday will without further ado go resolutely about the business of ridding themselves of the billigerent Mr. Nixon and give the large number of fans who are expected to rally at the park the best possible greeting—a barrage of base hits that rattle and resound all over the battlements on the north side.

Buster Braun, who in nowise lost his poise during the trying moments of last Sunday, will trail his assigned to the bring line on the strength of a pair of three-hit performances against the now thoroughly respected champions of the regions of the Fox River Valley. Supported by some fielding of a more profitable nature, Ol' Buster is a good bet to blaze the Chairmakers along the championship straits.

Despite the unexpected interruption of the stuttering affair, fewer runners fledgling on the bags and more prodigious clouting, coupled with the same airtight brand of curving is the program Manager Beyers has mapped out for the final game.

NIXON TO FOIL

Emboldened by his previous conquest, Nixon, mound ace for the visitors, is certain to threaten the Chairmaker supremacy despite the vicious attack that will be leveled at him from the time he ascends the hillock until the last man has been retired. Fielding rather than hitting or pitching has been the deciding factor to swing the tide in favor of the Sheboygan champions in the first game and the Menasha pennant winners in the second, however, and much may depend on this department of play again Sunday. Settling down on their own smooth diamond for the final encounter, Paul Beyers' flashy infielders are certain to act more at home than they were able to make themselves appear on the rough Menasha inner pavilion.

Deciding to wait until the championship matters have been conclusively settled, the fans banquet arranged in honor of the Beyermen has been postponed from Thursday night to next Tuesday. Tickets will be placed on sale at all business places and Chairmaker rooters are invited to attend.

BAY MANAGEMENT RESERVES EVERY SEAT FOR SUNDAY

Expect Sell-out for Jacket Game; Many Good Seats Still Available

GREEN BAY—Business is booming around the Packer ticket office as the fans eagerly stand in line waiting their chance to purchase pasteboards for the National Football league game here Sunday between Green Bay and the Frankford Yellowjackets of Philadelphia. This is the only intercollegiate home game on the Packers' card.

The management wishes to correct one rumor that is in circulation about a complete sell-out. This is not true. The seats in the big stands have been cleaned out but there is still available many of the bleacher reserved seats. Every seat in the park, grandstand, park benches and bleachers, is being reserved.

The City stadium with its enlarged seating capacity can seat more than 9,600 spectators and the care of 2,500 more in standing room.

According to Director of Ticket Sales Spachmann, there are at least 1,500 seats still to be sold. Dench seats at the east and west ends of the field were placed on sale at the Packer ticket office this morning. Every uncalled for reservation will be picked up Thursday evening and placed in open sale 24 hours later, Spachmann said.

In the meantime the Packers are going through their daily workouts in preparation for the intercollegiate encounter with the Easterners. Capt. Lambeau is whipping his team at a good pace and from the looks of things, they should be "on" again Sunday.

Don Hill, California half back, has been released to the Chicago Cardinals. Don looked pretty good in his last game but Capt. Lambeau had to shelve his squad to conform with the league rules, which provide that no more than eighteen men be in uniform on a bench after the third game of the league season.

ENROUTE TONIGHT
Philadelphia's hopes in the National Football league, leave here this evening over the Pennsylvania railroad for Green Bay, Wis., where on Sunday they will clash with the Packers in a game that may go a long way towards deciding possession of the 1929 bunting.

The Jackets are making the trip in a private car. There are 30 in the party including the players, trainers and executives of the Frankford Athletics association.

The squad is scheduled to reach Green Bay on Friday and will headquarter at the Northland hotel. Frankford and the Packers are tied for first place in the National league race.

Each team has won three league games and are well out in front in number of games played so that their leadership will not be threatened for some time to come. The winners will take first place and will therefore become a mark for all the other teams to shoot at.

If the Packers win they will have registered defeats to Dayton, the Chicago Bears, the Chicago Cardinals and the Yellowjackets. If the Jackets win the contest they will have defeated Buffalo twice, and Dayton and the Packers. By inference their defeat of the Packers will give them superiority over the Bears and Cards of Chicago.

Either way the battle between the Jackets and the Packers is a prize worth striving for and the Jackets are going to the fray in the best possible condition considering the long trip to the Wisconsin city.

New timber that has been built into the Jacket's machine this season includes such men as Magliacane, Geneva tackle, who saw action in Green Bay this season with Portsmouth; Barnes, former all-American end with Hobart; Halachi, former star half-back at Bucknell; James, center, who starred with Nebraska. Among the old timers who played with the Jackets in Green Bay a year ago are, Diehl, former Bucknell fullback; Mercer of Simpson, and Rogers of Pennsylvania; Flak, Penn State tackle; Kostos, Schuylkill end; Homan, Lebanon Valley, quarter; Mahoney, Penn State, center; Comstock of Georgetown fame, and Maxwell, Rockne trained end from Notre Dame.

The material is here for a championship team and their hopes are no less high than those of the Packers. The game Sunday is their first big hurdle on the way to the championship and they are going to Green Bay to win.

M'LARNIN WINS IN DEBUT AS WELTER

Hanks K. O. on Sergt. Sammy Baker in Two Minutes of First Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin has learned that the bigger fellows can fall just as hard as the little ones if they are hit on the right spot. Jimmy made his debut as a full fledged welterweight last night when his punch produced the same result against Sergeant Sammy Baker as it did against Jimmy's opponents in three lighter classes. The result was a first round knockout.

It took one minute for McLarnin to establish a firm connection between his right fist and Baker's head. The New York veteran went down for a count of nine only a few seconds later and arose just to take a final blow from Jimmy's right that ended the battle in two minutes of the first round.

Baker did not recover for several minutes after he had counted out. McLarnin tipped the scales at 144 pounds and had to concede only a two pound advantage to his adversary.

Hack Wilson Only Cub To Redeem Self Wednesday

BY DALE HARRISON
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Just as well that the Cubs and Athletics were on their way to Philadelphia today. The home guards, chomping on two Cubs defeats, were beginning to get the heebie-jeebies.

There were plenty of smart explanations for the Cubs' losing the first game, most of them being Mrs. Ebbetts' boy Howard; but the alibi artists got lockjaw trying to give any sane excuse for the 9 to 3 disaster yesterday.

"The Cubs," said the sages Monday, "are the greatest home park club in the country." The Cubs thereupon yessed them to the extent of losing the only home park games played.

Fans who had only two days in which to look over the Cubs, the games were not without advantages. The fans had a chance to look over most of the Cubs pitching staff. As the pitchers marched in and out of the "box" yesterday one scowling remarked a resemblance to the parade of the wooden shoulders.

By the end of the second game Kiki Cuyler won the sobriquet of "Strike-strike" Cuyler. Having struck out five times in two days. He was just one, however, of a noble company of strikers-out, including Hornsby, the Rajah. Hack Wilson, Chicago's own behemoth of swat, was the only Cub slugged to atone for opening day failures, getting three hits.

Thirteen more Cub strikeouts yesterday put Mr. McCarthy's bright young men in the shadow of setting a new record in this department, which is one of those decorations nobody likes.

Getting on the special train last night the Cubs learned that the railroad hoped to get the team into Philadelphia even faster than by their crack trains. Hearing this, one of the boys said: "It may go as fast as it can, but Grove's speed ball would make it look like a freight backing up to take on water."

Lady Luck just doesn't seem to have made the acquaintance of the Lawrence college Vikings if you should happen to ask Coach Clarence H. Rasmussen.

Wednesday night Razz sent his charges against the freshmen up on the Whiting plateau and although the boys showed a little better than usual old man hard luck showed up in the form of a badly injured ankle for Capt. C. B. Mitchell. "Mich" tore a couple ligaments and will be out of play until the Beloit game at least.

The injury means the Vike mentor will go forth Thursday night to find an end to take the captain's place. Coffey, a big fellow who has been playing both tackle and end during practice went to end last night for a few minutes but chances are Jessup will get the call for Saturday against Northwestern.

Wednesday's scrimmage was probably one of the best the Vikings have taken part in this fall and showed the results of the hard workouts the team has been subjected to during the last few days. And with John Roach pounding his freshmen along, the varsity had to show its ability to gain any ground.

Two backfield combinations were used by Coach Rasmussen the one of Fischl, Rasmussen, Opland and Brussat and Trankle showing the best.

New York—Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, B. C., knocked out Sergeant Sammy Baker, New York, (1.) Eddie Gids, New York, and Patsy Ruffalo, New York, drew, (10.)

San Francisco (AP)—Frank Shellenback, veteran right hand softball pitcher, is to take the mound today for the Hollywood stars in an attempt to stop the winning streak of the Mission Reds for the 1929 Pacific coast league baseball championship. The Reds won the first two games of the post-season series.

Shellenback, leading pitcher of the league this season, probably will be opposed by Herman Pillette, Mission's right handed hurler.

Best Cole pitched the Missions to an 8 to 6 victory yesterday, allowing two hits.

Rasmussen in particular dashed off on a couple long jaunts and showed he had picked up new knowledge of the mentor's style of play. Lynn Trankle also went through the frosh for several gallops.

This was practically the way the men were used in scrimmage Tuesday night, when the squad was given the fiercest workout of the season.

THIRSTY LAMENTS LACK OF RESERVES FOR BADGER ELEVEN

Won't Have a Good Team Until There Are Three Men for Each Post

MADISON—Reserves, replacements we must have them and I cannot see them here," has been the burden of Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite's lament this week, as he faces the prospect of a grinding battle with Northwestern Saturday at Camp Randall.

"If I have not two good men for every position, I have no football team," Coach Thistlethwaite said a few days ago. Continuing he said, "And I cannot feel the slightest security about any position for which I have not three men of practically equal caliber."

In the mind of the farseeing Badger there is no such thing as these days a "first eleven" and much of his effort to date has been spent in an attempt to assay his material and assign his men. He has been forced to shift many players to positions unfamiliar to them, in his effort to find at least two men for every job. And he confesses that he must now more or less forego that quest to take up the supreme task of pointing his team for the Northwestern game, which has suddenly assumed the aspect of a crisis in the Wisconsin schedule.

He gave the squad a light workout Monday, spending much time in pointing out their mistakes against Colgate—and he must have seen plenty, from the earnestness and duration of his talk.

In the signal drill which concluded the practice, the Badger coach used the following teams, including all of the men who were in against Colgate for more than a minute or two: First combination, Casey and Gantenbein, ends; Lubratovich and Keteleer, tackles; Captain Parks and Liehnan, tackles; Kruger, center; Behr, Peccetti, Russ Rehbock and Gna-bach, backs; in the other, Johnson and Lew Smith, ends; Tobin and Witte, tackles; Franklin and Baer, guards; Miller center; Graebner, Linden, Lusby and Maurer, backs.

This was practically the way the men were used in scrimmage Tuesday night, when the squad was given the fiercest workout of the season.

MACKS CONFIDENT AS THEIR SPECIAL ROLLS EASTWARD

M'Carthy Expected to Toss Root and Bush in Again Friday

ABOARD the Athletics Special en route to Philadelphia—(P)—the Athletics drew nearer their home fortifications today still firmly convinced that the world series of 1929 would be ended on the eastern front. Having conquered Root and Malone in straight games in the western campaign, the confident young Mackmen are in no doubt of their ability to repeat their performance in the friendly trenches of Shibe park.

A survey of the Chicago pitching situation if any reveals that Joseph McCarthy's logical course must be to toss these same two young men back at the Athletics. Although handicapped by English's two errors in the ninth inning of the opening game, Guy Bush still failed to convince the assembled populace that he had recovered from the blind staggers he suffered toward the close of the national league campaign. He remains, however, a possibility for the Philadelphia opener.

The auxiliary managers of the Athletics continued today to favor John Pious Quinn to pitch the third game. Quinn himself was so worked up over the situation that he sat up an hour later than usual with his inevitable cross word puzzles.

Mr. McGillicuddy was so alarmed over his prospects after two victories over the Cubs that he sat in the lounge of the observation car in a fanning bee until long past his regular bedtime. After the crash of two days in the vortex of a world series battle he seemed genuinely glad to be safe from the crowd. In the inter-change of conversation which adhered strictly to games long past he made several interesting revelations. It long has been known that the leader of the Athletics enters even more data than a reporter upon the famed score cards with which he wags the signs. He revealed last night that he has them all carefully treasured against the day when he "must inevitably get old."

The master manager spoke of the 1910 series against the Cubs. He still regretted not having sent Topsy Hartzell to bat for Ira Thomas in the ninth inning of the fourth game at Chicago. The Cubs won this one by 4 to 3 by scoring one run in the ninth and another in the tenth depriving the Macks of four strikes. The A's had the bases filled with one out in the ninth and held a lead of 3 to 2 against the late King Cole. Mr. Mack started to send in the diminutive Topsy to try to coax a pass from Cole. Thomas begged to be allowed to try the hit and run into a double play on the first pitch. The Mackman special was zipping merrily over the Alleghenies today on the eighteen hour schedule of the Broadway Limited, crack Pennsylvania Flyer. The arrival at North Philadelphia was expected to be at not later than 2 o'clock eastern time.

WEATHER MAN SAYS "RAIN" FOR FRIDAY

"John Doe" Warrants Fail to Halt Speculating in Philadelphia

Philadelphia—(P)—Baseball fans in this world series town who have been on the verge of going into ecstasies over the double victory of the Athletics over the Cubs, found something to worry about today. The weather man predicted a possibility of rain tomorrow, the day of the first series game here. Rain is the worst thing that could happen on Friday, in the opinion of 40,000 rabid fans, who have waited 15 years to see a world series tussle. With the jubilant Athletics on their way home from Chicago ticket speculators boosted prices substantially today. Two victories over the devastating Cubs, the speculators contended, put gold borders on the pasteboards for the three games to be played here. They were abroad in the land early quoting $90 to $100 for a three-game pair of tickets that cost the original purchaser $33. Heretofore the prices asked ranged from $50 to $75.

Fifty "John Doe" warrants said to have been issued for the arrest of speculators, seemed to have little effect on their activities. Counterfeit tickets for the series have made their appearance here, and a number have been sold. The fact that spurious pasteboards were in circulation was revealed to officials of the Athletics club by ticket speculators, and as a result two men were in jail today with the disposition of their cases undetermined.

VETERAN HURLER BEMOANS HIS CUBS

Says Bruins Were Guilty of Poor Baseball Many Times Wednesday

BY MORDECAI (THREE FINGERS) BROWN

Chicago—(P)—They don't play the game the way we used to play it. Maybe they are better, but after watching the Athletics beat the Cubs in the second game of the series, I don't know whether I know baseball or not.

The game was decided by Fox's homer, but before that happened Cochran made a hit that might have been prevented by careful coaching and Simmons walked when there was no real reason for passing him. There were two out and Simmons looked fairly easy—and yet was given a base on balls. I thought Malone pitched badly to Fox's and allowed him to hit a fast ball over the wall. Nothing else counted much, but the Cubs seemed to lose their fight

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
ONE-EYE CONNALLY wrote to John D. Shibe, asking for a world series reservation in the press box. . . . It was waste basketed. . . . Residents of 30th street, near Shibe park, erected nifty bleachers on their house-tops and were all set to clean up on the world series. . . . Then the building inspector said nothing doing. . . . "If there should be a collapse, or persons were injured hurrying to exits, citizens would be asking where the building inspectors had been." . . . John Rasmussen, All-America end in 1918, is back on the Wisconsin, eleven this fall. . . . The war and raising of a family punctuated his college career. . . . Bill Carrigan, may retire from the game next year and run that bank he owns up in Maine.

BADGERS LOOK BAD AGAINST N. W. PLAYS

Freshmen Rattle Off Long Gains in Wednesday Night Scrimmage

BY STANLEY E. KALISH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Madison—(P)—Coach Dick Hanley's Northwestern university backfield luminaries were catalogued by the Wisconsin football varsity Wednesday night in a long defensive scrimmage.

Freshmen donned Northwestern colors and the backfield men wore the numbers of Hanley, quarterback; Berghman, fullback, and Bruder and Calderwood, halfbacks and ran plays brought back of Wisconsin scouts.

The double wing back formations, which Northwestern uses as did College in the game here last Saturday, could not evolve into successful running plays and the husky Badger line troupe smeared them frequently at the scrimmage line or for losses. However, when the frosh took to passing, sizeable gains were made and with alarming frequency.

At one time the freshmen completed three passes in succession and each of them went for more than 15 yards.

The ever perplexing problem of the center of Wisconsin's line was revived as line coach "Stub" Allison made a shift at guard. He inserted Aaron Franklin, Milwaukee sophomore, in Capt. John Park's place. It is believed Allison made this move in order to give Franklin some varsity experience. Parks is expected to start against the Wildcats Saturday in view of his "hang up" football of last week.

Reported ticket sales place the crowd at near a capacity figure. Officials report nearly all the seats are sold and this means that approximately 40,000 persons will see the first game between the two schools since 1921.

and hustle after they smashed up in the fourth inning.

The don't know, but it seemed to me Malone might have pitched a better game had he been permitted to use his own judgment regarding batters and I am sure that the umpire on balls and strikes was tough on all the pitchers—not that it affected the result, but it might have done so. The Cubs, my old team, looked bad—and looked worse all through the game than they really are. The Athletics look as if they have the jump on them, just as they did 19 years ago. I'm still hoping but not as cheerfully as before the series started.

BLUES LOSE AGAIN; A. A. SERIES EVEN

Paul Derringer Hurls Shut-out Ball for Eight Innings; Wins 4-2

Rochester, N. Y.—(P)—Tied up at three games each in the little world series, the Rochester and Kansas City clubs, respective champions in the International league and American association, prepared for the seventh clash here today. Kansas City has Lynn Nelson and Tom Sheehan, undefeated hurlers for use today. Rochester will use John Berly, curve ball artist, in what will be his first start of the series.

Rochester deadlocked the series by taking the sixth game yesterday, 4 to 2, finding the Kansas City hurlers for but three hits but combining them with sacrifices and wildness on the part of the Kansas City hurler, George Murray. Murray was wild in the first inning, forcing one man with a base on balls when the sacks were full. This was followed by Felix's sacrifice fly.

Paul Derringer hurled shutout ball for eight innings and fought through a rally in the ninth when he gave but two runs after the bases were filled with but one out and one run across.

RIPON REDMEN TO MEET CORNELL "11"

Fisher, Tackle, Passes Exam to Become Eligible; Hanks Is Hurt

Ripon—(P)—Ripon's chances for a victory over Cornell college on the gridiron here Saturday was enhanced today with the announcement that Jack Fisher, 185-pound sophomore tackle, had hurled an exam to dispel the ghost of ineptitude. Although Fisher has yet to taste midwest conference competition he is looked upon as a mainstay in the Redmen's forward wall. The game with Cornell will feature the Dad's day program at Ripon.

The Redmen needed the addition of some worthy player to their line after suffering two serious blows during the past week. An ankle injury to Stan Hanks, veteran guard, was the first blow and the second came when Porwaenical, sophomore tackle from Kerosha, announced his withdrawal from school.

Porwaenical's play in the opening game this season gladdened the hearts of Ripon followers and he was looked upon as the driving force behind the team. Fisher may be picked to fill his place unless the Ripon mentors decide to try him at center, a position he held on the yearling squad last year.

Coach Doebbing sent his men through a rigorous pre defense drill tonight in anticipation of an aerial attack by the enemy Saturday. Scouts at the Northwestern-Cornell game last week came back with information which reveals Cornell's prowess in the air.

An airport is being constructed on Cozumel Island, in Mexico.

BLEACHER LINES FORM AT SHIBE PARK

Philadelphia—(P)—Unmindful of chilly blasts on Lehigh avenue, several dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans began a long camp before the bleacher entrance at Shibe park early today to await the opening of the gates at 10 A. M. Friday.

At the head of the line was Mrs. J. Franklin Kratz, whose home is opposite the bleacher gate at her home.

LONE WOMAN BATTLES WOLVES
Her battle with wolves while she was driving a reindeer alone in Lapland has just been related by Violet Crissy-Mareks, the young English explorer, on her return to London. Her Finnish guides being unable to enter Russia she started out in a reindeer "pulk" a canoe-shaped sleigh, alone for a camp 49 miles up the frozen river Lutto. After she had traveled 30 miles the wolves attacked; the "pulk," and the frightened reindeer lay down in its traces. Whipping the reindeer into action she kept the wolves off by beating a big stick at the back of the "pulk." The animals followed her until near the camp and shots of the men there frightened them away. Mrs. Crissy-Mareks then fainted.

COP SEES SERIES GAME WHEN FAN MISTAKES HIM FOR A GATEMAN

Chicago—(AP)—You could have knocked policeman William Shea over with a feather yesterday when a long arm reached out, landed him a box seat to the world series ball game, and then disappeared.

Officer Shea was on duty at the exit turnstile of the Addison-st "L" station. Trains were disgorging passengers and there was a big crowd clogging through. Officer Shea stood there, shouting: "This way to the ball park."

Out of the mass of masculinity whirling through the turnstile the arm came, and a hand shoved the ticket into the policeman's hand. By the time Shea realized what had happened, the unknown Santa Claus had gone.

Officer Shea reported at once to Lieut. McGrath and asked permission to use the ticket, which was granted. He went to the park and plunked himself down in the choice seat.

A little later a very angry man from Maquoketa, Iowa, began pestering policeman. He said he had handed his world series ticket to a policeman at the "L" turnstile, thinking it was the entrance to the park. Eventually he came to Lieut. McGrath who realized what had happened. He escorted the man from Maquoketa into the park just in time to see the ninth inning and in time to see what a nice seat he might have had.

F. J. Cavanaugh, superintendent of city schools, presided. Others present were Olin G. Dryer, principal of the high school, Roy Nelson, John Nielsen, Arthur Schmalz, H. Conkey and H. C. Ransley, and M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

The Rev. Lane will succeed Mr. Ransley who is unable to carry on the work here because of other duties. Mr. Ransley was scoutmaster here for over a year.

It is planned to organize several troops which will be under the supervision of the Rev. Lane. He will have several assistants. Mr. Cavanaugh stated that the Kaukauna Rotary club probably will sponsor the troop and that it will be taken up at the next meeting of the club. The Rotary club sponsored the troop in the past.

Valley Scout Executive M. G. Clark discussed the aims and benefits of boy scouts. Committees to take charge of the proposed troops will be named in the near future.

PLACE NEW BOOKS ON LIBRARY LIST

New Volumes Cover Variety of Subjects, Librarian Reports

Kaukauna—Books covering a number of subjects have been received at the library recently, according to Miss K. Hornbrook, librarian.

"Peter Good For Nothing," by Darragh Aldrich, is a story of Pierre Bonarien, French-Canadian woodsman, who enters a lumber camp surrounded by an air of mystery. The novel includes plenty of action. Another good novel is "Dark Journey" by Julian Green. It was awarded the first prize in the Harper prize novel contest of 1929.

"Tenth in a World of Men" by Marietta Johnson outlines educational principals underlying her work in her experimental school. The book gives a comprehensive survey of the needs and aims of education. "The Perfect Baby," by Clair Morton gives advice in a cheerful, practical and constructive way to mothers wanting their babies to appear as perfect to the neighbors as well as to themselves.

A keen, authoritative exposition of the whole field of American foreign commerce is given in "Frontiers of Trade" by Julius Klein. It discusses closely related topics such as raw material monopolies, American purchasing power and investments abroad, Far East and economic revival of Europe. "Eat, Drink and Grow Slender" by Clarence W. Lieb, M. D., discusses causes of obesity and offers suggestions for safe and effective treatments. The book deals with "quack" reducing remedies and gives valuable data on reducing in a safe harmless way.

Flower lovers will welcome the book "Dahlias" by Rockwell. It is one of the Home Garden Handbook series. It gives suggestions on new ways to use Dahlias in general planting and cutting. It deals with several of the more rare types of Dahlias. The book considers proper soils, fertilizers, planting, care, protection, storing of roots and planting them.

TEXTILE DEALERS PLAN TO IMPROVE BUSINESS AFFAIRS

No Congressional Probe but Manufacturers to Conduct Private Inquiries

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1929, by Coma Press

New York—Textile manufacturers, although there is no immediate prospect of a congressional investigation of the textile industry, as demanded by Senator Wheeler on request of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, are looking into their own affairs today with extreme care.

The Wheeler resolution failed of adoption, objection being made that this is not an appropriate time for the investigation. However, the investigation from within is likely to have a most beneficial effect.

The cotton manufacturers are not in a satisfactory position although demand for goods is improving. Production is not much in excess of sales. No large stocks of goods are piling up. The change in styles has been beneficial. But many of the manufacturers still are unable to understand or adjust themselves to modern methods of buying frequently and in small quantities, and they complain bitterly because orders for next season's requirements are not piling up as they anticipated.

The tire cord manufacturers are doing splendidly but this phase of the industry is passing more and more into the hands of the rubber and tire manufacturers. These concerns now are making the cords they consume instead of buying from the companies engaged solely in textile manufacture.

The government forecast for the present cotton crop indicates a yield of 14,915,000 bales. This compares with 14,478,000 in 1928 and it is likely to have a stabilizing effect on the price of the raw staple. Now that this trend has been more thoroughly established, manufacturers and consumers can go ahead more confidently.

as customers and pay them subject wages so they can afford to buy. One big New England firm reached this conclusion when it found that only two of its thousands of employees used a single piece of fabric made by its mills.

One big northern manufacturer who used cotton fabric in his plant has bought a southern mill and will make it one of the largest in the south. He declares he will pay a minimum of $40 a week to his workers.

Most southern communities are ceasing to advertise that they have cheap labor, although some still do so, figuring that establishment of new industries will bring in a considerable sum if work were provided for women who are not now earning anything.

The rayon, silk and woolen textile plants are in much the same sort of labor situation. Demand for rayon, however, continues to expand. Orders for the fiber and for finished fabric are being placed for the entire of 1930. Like cotton, the industry has been benefited by fashion changes, but unlike cotton, price levels have been well stabilized.

RECORD FAIR SALES

The broad silk manufacturers are recording fair sales but the industry still is woefully overmilled. Sales have been stimulated by low prices but these prices and severe competition have cut profit margins deep. Some makers are shifting over to rayon or combining rayon with the natural silk fibre. Prosperity is spoty. Makers of successful designs find it and in small quantities, and they complain bitterly because orders for next season's requirements are not piling up as they anticipated.

The tire cord manufacturers are doing splendidly but this phase of the industry is passing more and more into the hands of the rubber and tire manufacturers. These concerns now are making the cords they consume instead of buying from the companies engaged solely in textile manufacture.

The government forecast for the present cotton crop indicates a yield of 14,915,000 bales. Now that this trend has been more thoroughly established, manufacturers and consumers can go ahead more confidently.

SEEK INVESTIGATION

The investigation asked by Mr. Green and Senator Wheeler was called for largely because of wage conditions said to exist in the industry. The investigation from within is likely to have a much more prompt effect in this direction than any federal investigation. The manufacturers themselves are coming to the belief that it pays to have employees their levels have not entirely discounted the drop in raw wool prices as compared with a year ago. The old style manufacturers, however, are not making money. It is only the producers who have combined attractive designs with comparatively light weight goods whose products are in acute demand.

One of the largest cotton plantations in the world is at Tavium, in the Fiji Islands.

VEEXING PROBLEMS FACE HOOVER IN ARMAMENT TALK

Even if Agreement Is Reached, France and Italy Must Be Dealt With

BY MILTON BRONNER
London.—Despite the calm efforts that President Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald are making to iron out differences between America and Great Britain on the question of naval parity and to seek a formula for the vexed question of the freedom of the seas, the projected meeting of these two warriors for peace in Washington this fall will face plenty of vexing problems.

The American president and British premier will be treading together a path on which they will be harried by the die-hards and the "big navy" men of their respective nations. And even if they agree upon a common platform, there will still be France and Italy, who will prove tough customers with their rival demands and their rival programs.

Just as soon as the two statesmen announce that they have found a way to bring about a party between the America and the British navies, two questions will be asked:

IN AMERICA: How about Britain's vast mercantile marine, many of whose vessels can be rapidly converted into auxiliary cruisers?

IN BRITAIN: How about America's vast superiority in air-planes attached to its fleet?

They will not be idle questions. They will be very seriously questions and they will be very hard to answer.

The World War showed the enormous value of swift-running passenger ships which could be converted into cruisers and commerce destroyers and troop conveyors. Many of these vessels could throw a clean pair of heels to all but the swiftest ships in the war navies.

Now Britain owns more than double what do in mercantile vessels. More than 20 per cent of its mercantile marine is less than five years old. Only 3 1-2 per cent of ours are. When we come to the big liners of 15,000 tons and more, Britain once more displays a great superiority. It owns more than 50 per cent of such vessels.

The line of attack of the British die-hards is clearly indicated by a significant article written for the Daily Telegraph of London by its naval correspondent. Among other things he said:

"That aircraft have become an integral and vital component of naval power is admitted by all competent authorities. The fighting efficiency of a modern fleet depends in large measure on its aerial auxiliaries which perform such important duties as reconnaissance, 'spotting' or marking for the big guns when these are firing at extreme range or under conditions when direct aiming is impossible, carrying out torpedo and bombing attacks on enemy vessels, laying smoke screens and locating hostile submarines. From now on, therefore, the factor of air strength must be included when estimating the power of navies. At the present time the United States is enormously superior to all others in air strength and its lead is being rapidly increased."

He says that on March 1 of this year we have on our navy 867 effective airplanes to Britain's 135. Since then purchases have been authorized on both sides which bring America's strength to 1140 and Britain's to 150. In July, he says, our Navy Department at one blow ordered 152—or as many as the total possession of the British navy.

But assuming that all difficulties are composed between America and England, it has been announced the proposal is then to call in France, Italy and Japan and get them to agree with us on a common program. This is going to be more difficult than Anglo-American agreement, hard as the latter may prove. France and Italy were willing in 1924 to fall into line when it came to cutting down the number of battleships and battle cruisers, but when it comes to reducing the limiting the number of lighter cruisers and submarines, both the Latin nations are prepared to buck. Even while eyeing each other with veiled hostility and distrust, they will unite on this. The French thesis was adumbrated not long ago in a great French weekly paper. It upholds the theory that navies should be limited to the strict necessities for national security brought about by their geographical and economic situations. The writer considers the coastlines each great power has, the lines of communication it has to maintain with its distant colonies which are its sources of supply for food and men, and works out an amazing formula which might please England and France, but which we would never accept and which would make M. Resolli foam with rage.

The formula worked out at the famous Washington naval conference was:

America and England—5.
Japan—3.
France and Italy—1.75.

According to the new thesis, the formula should be:

England—10.5.
France 4.5.
United States 2.7.
Japan 1.3.
Italy—1.

France and Italy accepted between them at Washington. It is doubtful whether either one of them will be willing to do so again. Even if Italy expressed a willingness to do so, France would object.

EUROPEANS BUSY PROTESTING OTHER FELLOWS' PROTEST

Continent Dizzy With Endless Objections and Counter-objections

Berlin —(P)—Europe is a continent of protests nowadays.

All nations protest against having to pay their war debts; statesmen protest against each other's pronouncements; parties protest against each other's policies; minorities protest against coercion by their overlords; the Rhineland protests; the Saar protests; farmers protest against governmental neglect and the man in the street is forever protesting against the cost of living and high taxation.

All these protests evoke counter-protests, and these counter-protests lead to more protests, and so on endlessly.

The city of Danzig protested against the Versailles Treaty on its tenth anniversary. The Poles protested that the Danzigers had no right to protest. Then the Danzigers protested against the Polish protest, whereupon the Poles re-protested.

Protesting becomes a mania in individual cases. At Traunstein, Bavaria, a man committed suicide, because, he said in a note, he felt himself responsible for all the troubles of the Fatherland. And at Sonnenburg, a man in a state of nudity climbed on a roof, shouting:

"I protest against the republic! I want my Kaiser back."

Antique works of sculpture are being reproduced in embossed leather in Italy.

"They work while you sleep"

When the bowels need help there is nothing like cascara; nothing more efficient, nothing so good for the system. Any doctor can confirm these facts.

Candy Cascarets give you pure cascara in a most pleasant form. Take one tonight. See how fine you feel all next day. Without discomfort and without harmful effects this gentle laxative cleanses the whole thirty feet of bowels. Cascarets never produce that nauseous feeling usually associated with the use of laxatives. And their action is so natural that there is no danger of forming the laxative habit. You can take them as often as you please—or give them freely to children or old folks.

A coated tongue or a laden breath is a signal for a candy Cascaret. Or a sick headache, or any sluggish feeling; any time you believe the liver and bowels are not functioning fully, Cascarets will sweep away accumulations in the lower bowel. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice, making them the ideal laxative for children.

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; the use of 20 million packages a year proves their effectiveness.

TRADE BOARD HEAD SAYS COUNTRY IS ON MEND

London — (P) — Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, president of the board of trade, told an audience at Newport, Wales, that England was definitely on the road to economic recovery.

He said that 500,000 more persons had employment today than in 1924. "We have made steady progress since 1925," he declared.

"Output has increased and our trade balance has increased by $725,000,000. In the mining industry contracts are being made on a scale that we should have thought impossible a year ago."

TRACE NEW CLEWS UNCOVERED IN CULT MYSTERY OF WEST

California Authorities Hunt for Burial Places of Miss- ing Women

Los Angeles—(AP)—Evidence that the strange burial of a youthful "priestess" of the religious cult known as "the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven" may have been preceded by ritualistic and unreported burials of other cult members and that a woman may have been literally roasted to death, sent investigators today to widely separated spots in the mountains of southern California.

Police believed, from conversations with members of the cult, that four women, in addition to 16-year-old Willa Rhoads, whose body was found beneath the residence of her foster parents, may have been privately buried.

Remarks about a new floor being laid in the cabin of a cult leader and another story of a coffin-like box having been buried in the mountains sent the authorities off on new trails.

Among the missing cult members for whom the police are conducting a search in the mountain areas of Los Angeles and Ventura are Mrs. Frances Turner, Mrs. Katherine Bolz, Mrs. Harlene Sartoris and Mrs. Addie McGuffin.

Another woman, Mrs. Floyd Miller, also is sought at the request of her mother, Mrs. Mary Faust of Portland, Ore. Mrs. Faust said her daughter came to Los Angeles with her husband about four years ago and was last heard from soon after joining the cult.

Miller, who is said to be in Los Angeles, is known by investigators as a member of the strange religious sect.

TELLS GRIEVOUS TALE
Officers were investigating further a startling story told to Detective Lieutenant Frank Condafer of the police homicide squad by Arthur and Minnie Toy, members of the cult, of a ritualistic ceremony where in Mrs. Turner, one of the missing women, was placed in an oven filled with hot bricks. A woman of the same name was buried in Ventura nearly two years ago and alleged discrepancies in her death certificate are being checked.

Mr. and Mrs. Toy, Condafer reported, said they were present when Mrs. Turner was placed in a specially constructed brick oven in the home of "Grandma" Jennie Blackburn, mother of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, cult leader now in jail on fraud charges. They said Mrs. Turner was kept in the oven all day and that no one in the cult ever saw her alive again. They asserted that she had been buried near the "Golden Throne temple" in the cult's colony in the Santa Susana mountains.

Police also were searching for a coffin-like box which William Rhoads, foster father of Willa Rhoads, said he buried near Big Bear lake in the

ORDERS DINNER, THEN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Houghton, Mich.—(AP)—The waiter served the dinner August Hansen ordered here last night but it went uncatered.

Hansen, 61, of Waukegan, Ill., ordered dinner at a restaurant. Then he leaned his elbows on a table, held his face in his cupped hands and stared downward.

"Your dinner, sir," said the waiter. There was no response. Hansen sat in the same position. His eyes were closed. The waiter spoke again and once more there was no response. Then he shook the customer. Hansen was dead. Authorities said he died of heart disease.

San Bernardino mountains. Rhoads said he buried the box, the contents of which he had not seen, four months ago at his wife's command. Rhoads also told police that he had buried his stepdaughter's body under the house on orders from his wife.

While Los Angeles officers were running down every fresh clew regarding the missing persons and the activities of the cult, Ventura investigators were conducting a thorough search of the Santa Susana mountain settlement. One development was the finding yesterday of a new floor in a section of the cabin occupied by Mrs. Blackburn.

Questioned as to what might be buried under the floor, David Thompson, Negro guard of the "Golden Temple," repeatedly said "I daren't tell."

MORE MILK POURED OUT IN KANSAS CITY STRIKE

Kansas City—(AP)—More violence in the strike of milk producers of the Kansas City district was feared today as a result of the second instance of sabotage since the strike began Monday.

Ten men, apparently farmers according to the driver, stopped a milk truck of a Kansas City pasteurization plant and poured in the road 160 gallons of milk. A group of 20 men poured 500 gallons from a dairy truck Tuesday.

Edward Maurer, driver of the truck stopped yesterday, said several of the men stepped to the running board of his truck from a car which pulled alongside while he was returning to Kansas City from Knobtown, Mo. Maurer was not molested.

Dairy plants here ordered night collection of milk halted, fearing damage to their equipment, and prepared to obtain their supply from outlying points by railroad.

Health authorities said today about 40 per cent of the city's milk supply was affected by the strike, but asserted an emergency supply being obtained from distant points made up the deficit. Officers of the producers union said a larger percentage of the normal supply was affected and denied the deficit was being filled.

CHAPTER 17 THE CUR TALKS

TUESDAY was a nasty day. Beginning with the shock of discovering the identity of Cousin John, it included the fussy business of the coroner's inquest on Pell, and it ended with two very disturbing incidents.

I had been on very good terms with Mr. Fotherbury. He liked my drawings and I liked his grand seignorial style; it amused me, and he was such a strange figure—in the part. He interested my eye and tickled my humor.

When the long inquest was over and the jury had given the police a clear field to run in anybody they chose, Mr. Fotherbury took me aside into his study. I thought he was a shade more formal than usual.

"Mr. Grenofen, do you know my son?" he asked, looking at me coldly.

"Yes—and no," I replied, feeling some embarrassment. "The truth is, Mr. Fotherbury, I hadn't met your son till last night, and then we had a—well, a rather unfortunate introduction."

"I've heard about it. I am told the cause of it was a quarrel between you over Miss Seabrooke."

"Perhaps it might be so expressed," I said.

"He is a fool to quarrel with anybody over Miss Seabrooke. I do not approve of any advances by him to Miss Seabrooke. I'll be quite candid with you, Mr. Grenofen. I've not a word to say against the young lady. I am aware that she has no part in the scheme—whose author I need not mention—for making her the heiress of Newplace. So that you will not misunderstand me when I say that I deeply regret and resent the violence you used towards my son last night."

The mere, sententious words conveyed no real idea of the air with which the old gentleman made this pronouncement—it was nothing less. I told him he could hardly expect me to describe the details of the encounter or to admit I acted wrongly from my point of view; but I was quite willing to say how sorry I was that his own feeling had been injured.

He answered with ineffable dignity.

"I put it all aside, Mr. Grenofen. But I am sure you will remember in future that Mr. Fotherbury is my son."

We talked of other things, the tragedy to Pell, the notoriety it gave Newplace. Several times Mr. Fotherbury seemed on the point of a personal question to me, but it never came to anything more than, "I was going to ask—but never mind."

The second incident—or rather observation—occurred as I approached the gate-house on my way out of Newplace. Three men walked slowly in front of me down the avenue, in close conversational.

Marling the cub and Professor Laxton turned off by the church and went into Marling's house before I reached them and without seeing me. But not before I had overheard two sentences—a question and an answer:

"Most remarkable," said Laxton; "and you've no idea where he went?"

"I can't be sure, because I was a bit forced," said the cub. "But I'm pretty content he went off along the cliff path towards Hollar Bay."

Perhaps it was not surprising that by the second day I had acquired a certain distaste for Cousin John. I detest furliveness of all sorts, and Cousin John made me furlive. People learned—through Laxton, I suppose—that we had a relative staying with us and remarked that they hadn't seen him. I lied glibly about the unfortunate influenza that had kept him in bed.

Laxton never saw me but he asked after my cousin's health. This lasted three days.

I saw Veronica only once during those three days. She said that as I had a visitor staying at Woodcot, I must necessarily be much preoccupied; and said it with a certain undertone: I did not seek out Veronica again.

But I saw far too much of Professor Laxton. He haunted Woodcot on any and every pretext. On Wednesday he was there twice. On Thursday he left us alone till supper time, and then suddenly appeared with an invitation for me to take an excursion with him on Friday to London.

I politely declined his suggestion without giving any specific reason. He seemed greatly disappointed.

I found it hard to divine what Professor Laxton was; but perfectly simple to divine he was not a professor of anything. Some day I would discover his real profession. The scene in the cloisters on that Sunday night and the subsequent hobnobbing of Professor Laxton and Marling, when put together, gave me an uncomfortable feeling that I had been fooled to the top of my bent.

In the same three days I saw a good deal, also, of Cousin John. In the solitude of the guest-room at Woodcot, he underwent a rapid change. He lost some of his ferocity. He civilized his appetite. He softened his voice.

When he had discarded the tramp's outfit in which he arrived and put on some of my clothes, Cousin John was a relative I need not have been ashamed to display to the whole village. But he firmly refused to be displayed to anybody except my mother and me.

He would not leave his room. He asked for books and read a good deal. He asked me to buy him a pipe. He smoked my tobacco. He was glad to talk to either of us, and would talk intelligently about everything but himself. On his own identity, on his part, on his intentions for the future, he was as dumb as a turnip.

The only spark of light I struck out of him by accident came when he let slip the fact that he knew Blackwater and the district very well. Having seen that I chewed this over, he tried hard to confuse my impression by displays of willful ignorance.

Each day of the newspaper each morning and studied it thoroughly. If he read the speculations which it printed about himself, he made no allusion to them.

It seemed on the third day as though Cousin John had been living with us a century, and was likely to be there for a millennium.

But the total duration of his visit was only three days and a bit. It had begun sensationally; it ended in a burst of excitement far more intense.

TRACTOR EXPORTS HELP IRISH-RUSSIAN TRADE

Dublin—(AP)—A year ago the Free State had no exports to Russia. This year the official figures show that in the first five months goods worth $500,000 were exported to soviet ports.

Public curiosity was excited as to what this trade represented and inquiry revealed the fact that all consigned of tractor parts from the new Ford plant at Cork.

Free State exports to the United States increased this year. The value was $1,489,675 for the first five months, compared with $452,075, for the same period last year.

SOVIET RUSSIA IS GOOD CUSTOMER OF U. S. BUSINESS MEN

Purchases Four Times Above Pre-war Scale, and Still Going Up

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—American goods and American manufacturing, engineering and building talent continue to pour into Russia with increasing volume.

Russia's five-year plan of economy and industrial expansion is being revised ambitiously and the present program for next year calls for an increase in industrial output of 33 per cent instead of about 15 per cent as previously planned. Without American technical assistance, it is admitted, this would not have been possible.

Here are the latest figures on Soviet purchases in the United States, as supplied by the Russian Information Bureau in Washington, for Russian fiscal years.

1926-27—$71,689,000
1927-28—$91,232,000

First 10 months of present fiscal year: $84,000,000 forecasting purchases of about $100,000,000 for the year. The pre-war figure was about $25,000,000.

Much of this increase represents healthy internal development for Russia. Two years ago she bought $2,500,000 worth of American industrial machinery. In the first 10 months of this year she bought $23,200,000 worth. Figures on agricultural machinery for the same period show an increase from $7,000,000 to $21,000,000.

Among the Soviet's recent purchasing contracts with American firms have been a $3,000,000 order with the Ford Motor Company for cars and parts in the next four years, a $10,000,000 order with the Baldwin Locomotive Works for a large contract with the Westinghouse Company, a deal for $26,000,000 worth of equipment from General Electric and something like $10,000,000 worth of tractors from the International Harvester and Caterpillar tractor companies.

Russia is now fourth among foreign purchasers of American machinery and she is regarded as the world's largest prospective market for imported machinery and equipment. Her program calls for capital investments in industry and power plant construction of more than $1,500,000,000 in 1930 alone and of $8,500,000,000 for the period 1929-32.

A check of the facts and figures seems to indicate that Russia is determined to build up her whole economic structure with American parts.

She has just bought a clock factory from the Ansonia Clock Company of Brooklyn which will be moved to Russia to manufacture a million alarm clocks and half a million wall clocks a year. A plant of the Duerksen Watch Company of Canton, O., will similarly be moved over to make a million dollar watches annually.

The Austin Company, a building concern in Cleveland, is going to build a new model city for 25,000 persons at Nizhni-Novgorod in 15 months, which will cost $50,000,000. Nizhni-Novgorod is to become the Russian Detroit. There the Ford Motor Company will build a plant to make 100,000 cars a year and another factory will turn out 20,000 tractors. The Cleveland concern won the contract for the new city to be built around these plants after European bidders had said they would require four years for the job.

As interesting as anything are technical assistance contracts which the Soviet has made with about 30 American firms. For instance, Russia plans to double her coal production in three years, so her latest technical assistance contract, made with the Allen & Garcia Company, provides for the maintenance of 28 American engineers in Russian coal fields.

GETTING EXPERT ADVICE

Other technical assistance contracts provide that Ford shall give technical assistance in construction of the aforementioned automobile factory, Du Pont de Nemours in erecting fertilizing factories, Frey Engineering Company in designing over a score of steel mills and other metallurgical plants to cost about a billion dollars, Hugh L. Cooper & Company in constructing the Dnieper hydro-electric power plant with 800,000 horsepower capacity—largest in Europe—at a cost of $100,000,000, Stuart, James & Cook in rebuilding old coal mines and opening new ones, Radio Corporation of America in manufacture of radio apparatus and exchange of patents and technical information, General Electric in expansion of the Russian electrical industry, Nitrogen Engineering Company in construction and operation of a

CLAIM ETHYL ALCOHOL IS FAST ANAESTHETIC

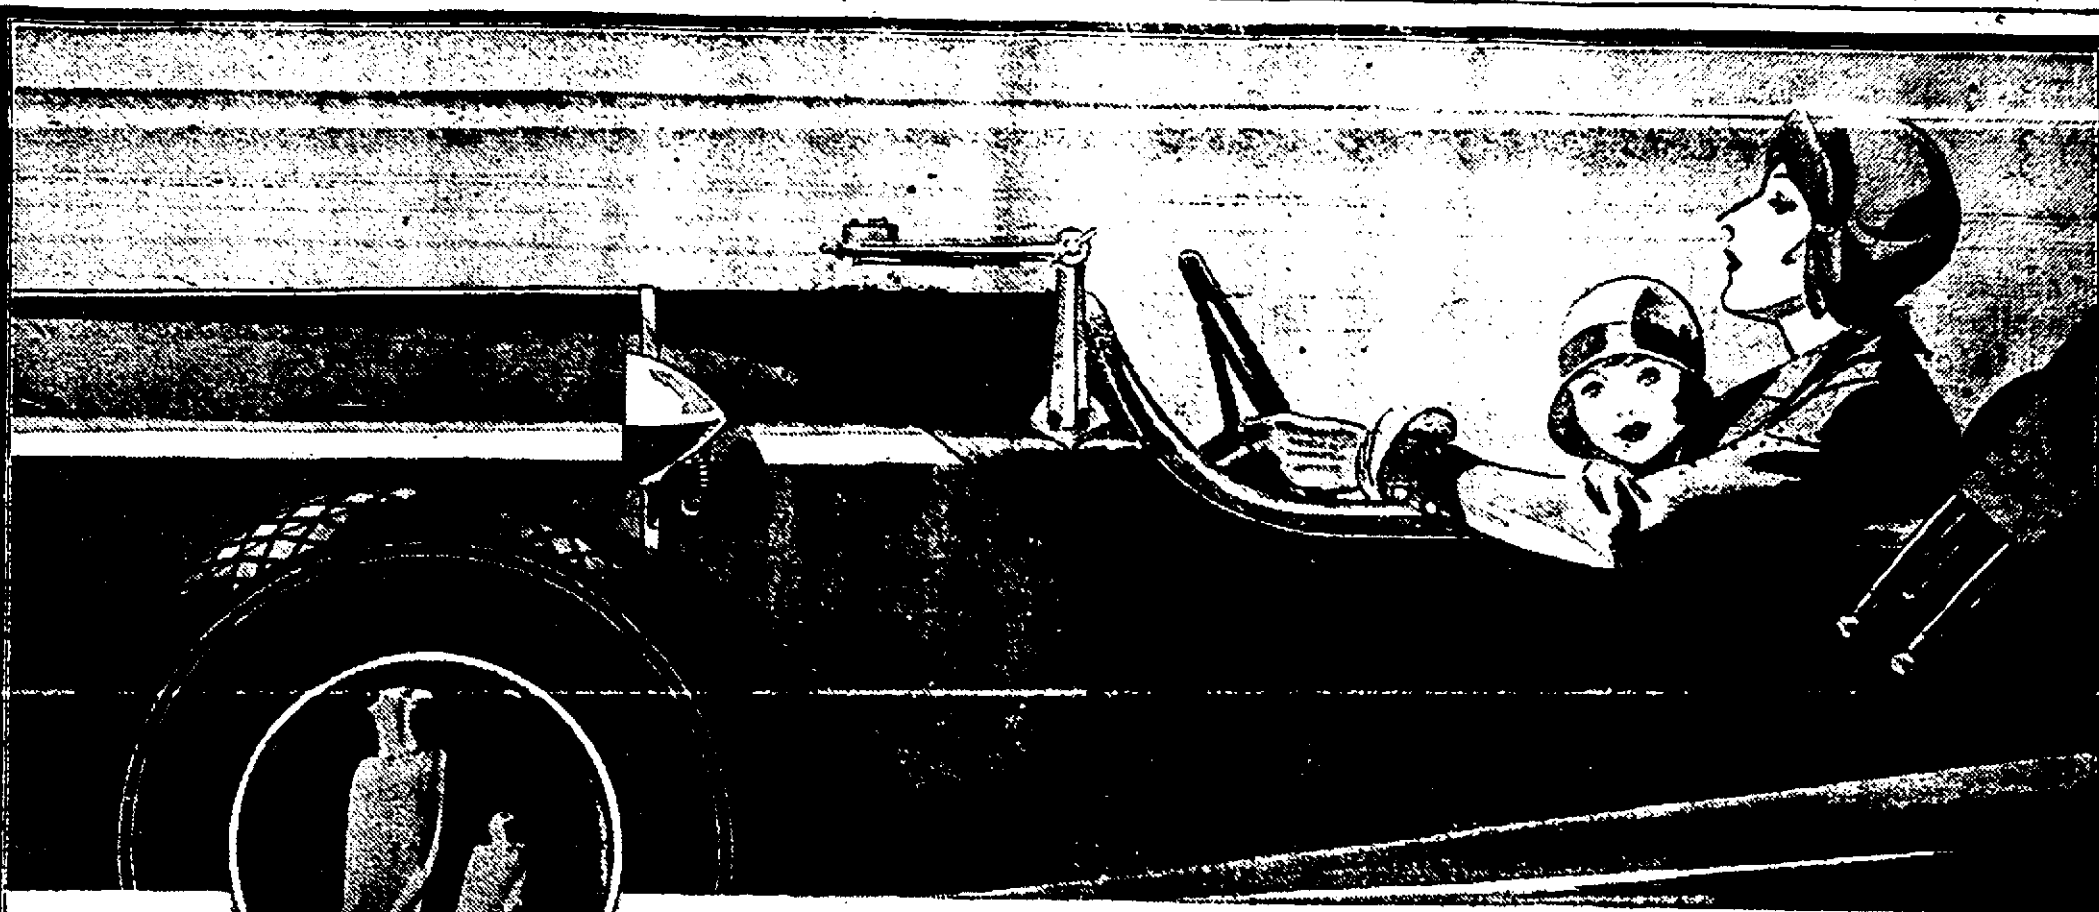

Havana —(AP)—The use of ethyl alcohol as an anesthetic in surgical operations, recently demonstrated before the Medical Society of France, named equally successful tests at the federal hospital here. Discovered by two youthful Mexican doctors, Garcia Marin and Francisco Oroz the ethyl alcohol anesthetic is declared to hold advantages over chloroform and ether because of its more rapid effect and ease of handling.

A recent communication to Dr. Carlos Trejo Lerdo de Tejada, Mexican ambassador to Cuba, from the two discoverers of the anesthetic said that the Medical Academy of Paris had pronounced the process a success.

$10,000,000 ammonia fertilizer factory and the Longacre Engineering & Construction Company in a $25,000,000 apartment house and public buildings program for Moscow. Other American concerns will engage in carrying out irrigation projects, building baking plants, erecting sewing machine factories, developing the Soviet aniline industry, building roads, construction foundries and various other enterprises.

A number of parties of engineers, numbering from three or four to a score or more, have already left for Moscow under these contracts. Incidentally, of about 1000 tourists who visited Moscow last year, some 95 per cent were Americans.

California's orange crop would fill a train of box cars extending from Boston to New York and six miles beyond.

Women drivers appreciate Gibson's thoroughness of service. Air, inspection, changing tires — all can be had at Gibson's without touching your own hand to the job. Free parking, too, is an extended service, right in the heart of the shopping section.

A dependable place for women to buy tires

A factor of genuine importance. Gibson Stations can be depended upon to make honest recommendations to the most timid or cautious feminine buyer. A complete range of sizes and types is available at a corresponding range of prices to meet individual needs.

Women's Cars Must Have Dependable Batteries

Battery failure is especially annoying to women drivers — and this is the season when failures begin to show up.

U. S. STEEL LEADS RALLY ON MARKET; MANY GAINS MADE

Unfilled Orders Increase and Sause Bull Movement

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHOF
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—The unexpected increase of nearly 245,000 tons in the September unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation, announced today, brought a flood of buying orders into the stock market and sent prices whirling upward as panic-stricken "shorts" rushed to cover their commitments. U. S. Steel common ran up 12 1/2 points and scores of other issues were marked up 3 to 12 points, some of them having showed losses in the early trading.

Meanwhile, call money again dropped from 6 to 5 per cent and time money was in fair supply at 1 1/2 per cent for all maturities. Wall Street was counting on a large decrease in Federal Reserve Bankers' loans to be announced after the close, but these weekly statements have provided so many disappointments in the past that several traders took advantage of the rally to lighten their commitments. One of the largest brokerage houses in the street also urged its customers who had carried stocks through last week's break with paper losses to reduce their holdings.

In view of the recent decline in steel output and the reported falling off in the demand for steel from the automotive and building industries, most speculators were not looking for any large increase in the steel corporation's tonnage. In the short space of two hours, steel common gained more than it lost in any full session of last week's declining market. Other steel stocks rallied in sympathy. Republic gained 8 points, Ingersoll Rand, Western Union, American & Foreign Power, Motor Products, Worthington Pump, American Can, Auburn Auto, General Electric, Westernhouse Electric, Allied Chemical and Johns Manville, the first three reaching new high ground for the year. Among the many stocks to advance 5 to 6 points were Atchafalaya, American Water Works, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Brooklyn Union Gas, Detroit Edison, Standard Gas & Electric, Corn Products and International Telephone.

Seaboard Air Line Preferred crossed 3 to a new high for the year but Missouri Pacific Preferred ran into some profit taking after attaining a new peak.

Some stocks tapered off on profit-taking in advance of the publication of the weekly brokers' loan statement, but the general list kept pushing forward with late buying of the coppers and communications issues the feature. Ingersoll Rand extended its gain to 13 points and Western Union to 10. American Telephone was well above the 200 mark again. The closing tone was strong, with total sales approximating 4,000,000 shares.

CORN CROP TO EXCEED TWO BILLION BUSHELS

Washington (AP)—Production by states of this year's indicated corn crop, placed at 2,528,077,000 bushels, was announced today by the department of agriculture. The crop on Oct. 1 and the indicated production on Oct. 1 follows:

Pennsylvania, 46,590,000; Ohio, 125,564,000; Indiana, 132,122,000; Illinois, 301,266,000; Michigan, 36,134,000; Wisconsin, 80,422,000; Minnesota, 145,214,000; Iowa, 422,653,000; Missouri, 121,231,000; South Dakota, 103,224,000; Nebraska, 221,137,000; Kansas, 190,650,000; Kentucky, 75,608,000; Oklahoma, 42,465,000; Texas, 85,795,000.

The preliminary estimate of production of durum wheat by states follows:

Minnesota, 3,226,000 bushels; North Dakota, 36,744,000; and South Dakota, 11,194,000.

The preliminary estimate of spring wheat by important producing states follows:

SUGGEST MERGER OF TWO CHICAGO BOARDS
Chicago (AP)—A movement to merge the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Curb and Stock Exchange has been suggested by a joint member of both exchanges, but the plan has been denied today that it had come officially to their attention.

The proposed junction of securities exchanges would have for its purpose the strengthening of the stock market through the merger of the curb as a "feeder," according to the proponent.

HEAVY RECEIPTS ON-CHICAGO MART

Enthusiasm Prevented When Arrivals Exceeded Last Week's Mark

Chicago (AP)—Enlarger receipts prevented much early enthusiasm in the hog market. With 8,000 left over and 26,000 more expected today, the run was much larger than Thursday of last week. Early sales in the 190-210 lb. class were steady, with the average yesterday at $10.10. 10,25. Shippers were responsible for the early trade in this class as the big packers were content to pick up a few light, and medium weight pigs, at prices ranging from $8.50 to $9.00. There were also nearly 3,900 direct.

Light steers and long yearlings continued to be the favorites on the market this morning, after a good day yesterday, in which the top of $16.35 for yearlings was paid. Calves were in weak demand, as the 2,000 received were not well taken in the early trade, and there were evidences of further declines in sight.

Lambs are running heavier than they should be for the season good, as 8,000 more than Thursday came today, or about 22,000 quality was only fair, and there were few good enough to have made the top of $13.50 reached yesterday for the best grades of fat natives.

Sheep receipts 22,000; market active today to strong; native lambs 13.00 to 13.25; early top 13.60; rangers unsold; fat ewes 4.50 to 5.25; feeders lambs steady 12.75 to 12.85.

Lambs good and choice 12 lb. down 12.00 to 12.75; medium 11.25 to 12.00; cull and common 7.50 to 11.25. Ewes, medium choice 13.00 lb. down 4.00 to 5.50; cull and common 2.50 to 4.00. Feeder lambs good and choice 12.00 to 13.25.

SELLING OF CORN UPSETS MARKET AS ALL PRICES FALL

Government Report Indicates Big Increase in Crop in 11 States

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago (AP)—Action of the corn market operated as a wet blanket on all grain values today. Persistent selling of corn future deliveries resulted from the government report pointing to a probable yield of 1,500,000,000 bushels of corn in eleven leading states this season, compared with 1,756,000,000 bushels indicated a month ago. Influenced a good deal by corn, the wheat market made but a poor response to continued unfavorable wheat crop advices from Argentina.

Further adverse wheat crop reports from Argentina today included mention of frosts in Santa Fe and Cordoba provinces, where the outlook was already poor as a result of drought. There were also estimates that the Argentine exportable surplus of wheat from this year's crop would be 70,000,000 bushels less than has already been exported to date from last year's production, some showings were noted today in parts of Argentina, but no moisture where most required.

Corn traders today practically ignored all aspects of the government crop report except the forecast of 72,000,000 bushels increase of production compared with last month's official figures. The increase was also materially in excess of private estimates issued in October. Rainy weather over the corn belt today failed to act as much of an offset to the government crop report.

Selling of future deliveries in the corn market today came under the heels of rather steady pressure for several days past. Besides, many traders appeared to consider prices too high to start aggressive buying before the new crop movement is generally under way. Oats averaged lower with corn and wheat. Provisions went down with hog values and with grain.

CONFIDENCE CAUSES STOCKS TO ADVANCE

Curb Is Stronger as Rumors of Decrease in Loans Gain Strength

New York (AP)—Curb market stocks were well bought today, as uneasiness over the brokers' loan figures, to be published after the close, gave way to a fairly confident feeling in professional quarters that the compilation would be highly pleasing. The public was wary, however, and trading was in light volume. There was still considerable tendency to take profits on bulges.

Leading utilities made good headway, American Gas and Electric, Electric Bond and Share and Electric Investors selling up several points, while American Superpower, Allied Power and Light, United Light and Power A and Associated Gas and Electric were firm. Cites Service was again one of the conspicuous strong spots, continuing its long gradual climb into new high ground in active trading.

Insult Utility Investment sagged for a time, but rallied later. Commonwealth and Southern, which has been one of the most active issues on this market since the stock was issued last summer, was transferred to the "big board."

New York Central rights were admitted to unlimited trading privileges and heavily dealt in at 9 and fractionally higher. Industrials were generally strong, such issues as Aluminum Co., Deere, Hires, Silica Gel, and Crocker Wheeler selling substantially higher.

Investment trusts and specialties were inclined to sag. Marine Midland encountered further profit taking and dipped at one time to 68, 8 points above its offering price, but then rallied. Lehman Corp., Goldman Sachs and Tri Continental Allied were under considerable pressure. Trans-America was firm.

Oils were somewhat irregular, but Humble and Vacuum were in good demand. Mines remained quiet, but were generally firm.

The New Texas Corp. debentures were again heavily traded, with little price change.

New York—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corp., has confirmed a report that the corporation plans to increase the authorized capacity of the plans of the Illinois Steel Co. a subsidiary, from 1,500,000 tons to 2,500,000 tons.

Earl D. Babst, chairman of the board of the American Sugar Refining Co., reports that the company's net income so far this year has been about the same as at this time last year. Both the melt and distribution of refined sugar for the first nine months have been on a more satisfactory level.

The Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad is expected soon to place orders for 5,854 freight cars. Orders for nearly 70,000 bars, shapes and plates are expected to be placed with Chicago producers.

HOGE PIPE LINES TO CARRY NATURAL GAS ARE PLANNED

Oil Dealers Expect to Make Considerable Development in New Field

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press
Tulsa, Okla.—Big natural gas developments are on the pan in the oil fields, with northern cities soon to be running fuel piped to them across hundreds of miles of open country.

At the moment plans are almost complete for a big line to run from the Amarillo field, Texas, to Chicago by way of Omaha. Gas already is in St. Louis ready to be turned on, after having been brought up from the southwest. Memphis, Atlanta and other cities of the southwest now are being served as the result of new developments.

The oil industry, striving to prevent wastage of any of the products resulting from operation of the business, has struck upon this extension of the use of natural gas as one big factor in a realization of the program. At present, gas from the Oklahoma fields is fully utilized. Texas is the big source of supply for northern use.

In the fields of California, operators soon will be in line, through expected enforcement of the new state law which penalizes further wastage of the huge gas resources which are exploited as a result of oil operations. Billions of feet of gas now going to waste there, are to be conserved and supplied to west coast cities.

The construction of gas pipe lines to Chicago is pictured as a development of the near future, with estimates already being prepared on pipe costs. Insult interests are said to be prepared to distribute in that city.

INDIANS DISAPPROVE
The conservation movement, far on the way to success in the southwest, does not register so favorably with the Osage Indians, who this year are feeling their one time big money dwindling.

The Osage nation owns one of the richest oil areas of the country, which was purchased in 1883 from the Cherokees for $1.25 an acre. But the area is no longer producing at flush and the output is curtailed under pro-ration agreement. As a result last year each enrolled Indian received $5,700. This year he is expected to get around $3,000. These Osage oil bonuses have ranged from $384 an Indian in 1916 to $13,400 in 1926.

One trend of the industry which is leading toward control of the production situation is noticed in the southwest fields where 20 companies now control 53 per cent of the Oklahoma production and 1,378 companies and individuals the other 42 per cent. In Texas twenty-seven companies control 75 per cent of the output and 1,253 the other 25 per cent. It is the same in California, with the result that through this centralizing of control, regulation of output is feasible.

The situation leads oil men to look for better times ahead.

FEMINIST LEADER DIVORCED
Paris—(AP)—Adoris Stevens, noted feminist leader, today was granted a divorce from Dudley Field Malone, New York lawyer, on the ground of abandonment.

Limoges, France—(AP)—A real gold mine has been found near this city. It has a vein two feet wide which grows richer as it descends. Geologists assert much gold lies in French soil but hitherto work has been confined to old Roman mines which yielded only about 250 grains, troy weight, to the ton of ore.

HAPPY LADY PAYS TRIBUTE TO NEW KONJOLA

"Since Taking Konjola I Can Eat Anything at Any Time," Says Former Sufferer from Indigestion

MRS. AGNES KINYON

"My stomach had been in a poor condition for some time, and everything I ate seemed to disagree with me," said Mrs. Agnes Kinyon, 126 Sunnyside avenue, Davenport, Iowa. "It was bothered after meals by bloating and indigestion and I did not get the proper nourishment from my food. I was subject to terrible headaches and was unable to get proper rest."

"Konjola proved to be the medicine I always needed. Since starting with this new medicine I can eat anything at any time. The bloating and indigestion are gone. I sleep much better at night and I haven't had a headache for a long time. Konjola is certainly a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schmitz Bros. drug store and at all the best drug stores in all towns throughout this entire section.

Stork Visits Japan's Empress

For the third time Empress Nagako of Japan has become a mother, but Japan's hope for a male heir to the throne has again proved disappointing. Another daughter was born. Here is the royal family of Japan: at right, the empress; center, left, the emperor, Hirohito, and two pictures of little Princess Shigako, eldest daughter of the couple. The other child died.

BUS DRIVER SHOT AFTER SLIGHT CRASH ON ROAD

Chicago—(AP)—A motorbus driver was shot and wounded last night as he halted his bus on Lake Shore drive in front of the home of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. His assailants were two men who escaped.

The driver, Roy Mutter, who was shot in the knee, said the two men in a small car had harassed him through miles of traffic. Just before the shooting, the bus grazed the other machine. The two men drove ahead a few blocks and got out of their car. They signaled Mutter to stop and then fired point blank through the window.

New York—A few days ago a loan made in 1927 by one of the Italian cities with an American banking group matured. It was necessary to extend it and to make it up with the bankers who originally put it through. They asked a rate of 9 1/2 per cent for renewal. To this the municipal authorities of the Italian city demurred and subsequently made a loan with one of their own banks at 7 3/4 per cent.

This emphasizes the degree to which money rates in this country have curtailed foreign financing and also the extent to which foreigners are refunding in their own currencies maturing dollar issues. This has been done on quite a large scale this year by Scandinavian borrowers as well as by the Dutch. Even German municipalities have found it more economical to take out short term loans with their own bankers at relatively high rates but on better terms than the could see long bonds at a discount in the American market.

GET ILLUSTRATION
The latest figures of foreign government and municipal financing in the United States illustrates what has been taking place on the other side in the way of arranging for necessary financing in comparison with what occurred here up to the middle of 1928 in securing required capital from American investors.

In the first eight months of this year the total amount of foreign government bonds issued in the United States was under $50,000,000. This compares with approximately $543,000,000 in the same period of 1928 and $17,000,000 in the first eight months of 1927. Foreign financing this year has been less than 9 per cent of all bond or note offerings that have come into the American market, whereas in the same months of 1928, it was over 25 per cent and nearly the equivalent of financing by public utilities.

Not only in loans to foreign governments and municipalities has there been a contraction but in those foreign corporations. For the 8 months the latter were $300,000,000 compared with $450,000,000 in the same period of 1928. No change in this situation is looked for until two radical departures from present conditions take place. The first is an improvement in the American money market, and the second, a decided rally in prices of all foreign dollar bonds.

So long as individuals and corporations can obtain from 8 to 10 per cent in the safest form of investment that they could make, namely collateral loans, they will not be greatly interested in second or third rate foreign bonds which yield from 5 to 9 per cent. And until the great mass of foreign issues placed here between the early part of 1927 and the middle of 1928 shows more rally power instead of a steady depreciation from week to week they will not offer much attraction to the type of individual or institutional buyer of bonds who wants a good yield but at the same time a fair guarantee that his

OKLAHOMA CITY GROWS RAPIDLY EACH YEAR

Oklahoma City, Okla.—This city is growing at the rate of 10,000 in population annually according to S. Herbert Hare, planning engineer, working with the city planning commission. Hare says Oklahoma City is already "over-zoned" for business, which seems to be a common fault of American cities.

capital investment is moderately secure.

It is a fair statement that over 75 per cent of all the foreign bonds placed in the American market in 1927 and 1928 are today at discounts ranging from 5 to 20 points, with a great number showing losses nearer the maximum than the minimum figure.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripped. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drugstores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drugstore in the world.
